THE SHENANDOAH—1952

An album of memories from Shenandoah Valley Academy to you. Presented by your annual staff, Virginia Moore, Editor.

New Market, Virginia

1926-1952

In looking back o'er the years at Shenandoah Valley Academy, we see a quarter of a century of steady progress—renewed dormitories, a new Ad building, new equipment, more students, a bigger and better farm, a beautiful campus, a diminutive lake.

All these are mingled in our minds with other memories—our friends, our teachers, and you Mr. and Mrs. Hannah.

Because you have been the guiding influence through all these changes and have, for twenty-five years, given so unstintingly of your energies to the youth of Virginia, we are glad to dedicate to you our 1952

Dearest Bob,

What to say just, I don't know. Maybe if I get started I'll be all right. I'd like to write this page full, I'll try!

At least our exams are over. It hardly seems possible that school is over again. This year really went fast. I can't say that I'm entirely glad school is over for the simple reason that I hate to say good-bye to you & not knowing whether I'll see you this summer or not. It certainly isn't a very pleasant thought, is it? I sure hope I can see you at some meeting anyway!

We've sure had our share of arguments, but most of them were over practically nothing. I guess some of them were something that was worth arguing about, though. The trouble with us is, when we do argue, we are both too stubborn to give in. We both think the other one should. I hope you'll forgive me for being so unreasonably stubborn and I'll try to do better in the future. O.K. Another thing, if I didn't have such a horrible temper, & blow up at every little thing & make up mad all the time, we probably wouldn't get into ~~so~~ so many quarrels. Usually by the time I get you mad, I'm over it, but you don't get over it that easy. I sure wish I didn't poison such a thing & I'll try to overcome ~~it~~ it. I know it won't be easy.

Well, anyway with all our quarrels, I've still had a "wonderful time" going you this year. I'm glad you put up with all my stupidness & meanness at the beginning ^{of the year} or I never would be going with you now & that would be terrible. Please forget all the terrible things I did such as going out Christmas, riding with Neil, all my plotting, treating you awful, and all the other things I did, and remember all the fun we had at the Senior Banquet, College days, and all the times we had practice for Senior Chapel & the Graduation. You did well in Senior Chapel!! also the time we were locked in the tower (over) con.

 chance that
 was funny
 even if it would someone I couldn't have done
 this that would
 for I. I for us, here?
 I'm glad we will be
 yours to the same college
 next year. all I can say is, I had better see you some time this summer. Write near after. I'll say good-bye now to the next wonderfull trip
 in the world.
 All my love,
 S. Be.
 your kind
 friend!
