Shenandoan*

1971

1971 SHENANDOAN

Bill Saukel, Editor

Shenandoah Valley Academy
New Market, Virginia

Because of your friendliness to us at all times,
Your leadership in things both sacred and secular,
Your willingness to listen to us and help us with our problems,
Your dedication to your profession and this school,
and your determination to give us our money's worth,
We, the students of SVA and the editorial staff of the 1971 SHENANDOAH, dedicate this annual to . . .

Mrs. Sarah Jane Liers

You are living in a time when the exhortation of Paul—"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" ought to be the motivation for excellence of performance in the education of Seventh-day Adventist youth. You need to know that the "foundation of God standeth sure," in this era of the world's history, when the masses are "ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth." Seventh-day Adventist students must be "born again by the word of God" in this time when the multitudes are "having a form of Godliness."

As you thumb the pages of the 1971 Shenandoan, may all the memories each page reviews inspire you to desire those qualities of life that come to one via the love of the Father in heaven.

E. F. Reifsnyder
Principal

What is Shenandoah?

To some it is just a place with while to others it is buildings and teachers,

always study and hard work.

But we all seem to find time for fun

And in the end see the fulfillment

and relaxation together

of personal goals and ambitions.

For each Shenandoah is a unique experience he will always cherish.

Classes

Youth is like the blossoming of a rose, both are stimulated by the atmosphere of a changing world. Fresh ideas and radical concepts are an evidence of the desire to break free and the struggle for independence.

Getting to know you

Dawna Lynn Zimmerman

Greg Baugher
Greg is well liked for his friendly smile and teasing ways. Although some think him quiet and reserved, anyone who works with him in the History Department will tell you he's one of the most mischievous guys around. He enjoys martial arts, football, and swimming, but definitely not loud-ringing bells. Greg hasn't decided on a college but he plans a career in business.

Willard Baerg
Willard is very studious but just as fun-loving as the next fellow. Model cars, reading, and hiking are what he likes best. And what he likes least—well, that just has to be the 4:30 a.m. news. Next year Willard plans to attend CUC and major in theology.

Seniors Look Back On Past Years.

Bonnie Barrows
Bonnie is a very friendly and hard-working girl from Maine. Because of her own efficiency it is easy to understand why she thoroughly dislikes those who procrastinate. She enjoys anything that has to do with water, especially sun bathing. Bonnie displays her talent to create something out of nothing as an expert seamstress. We are sure she will be a success as a dental hygienist, and we wish her the best of luck.

Don Beal
Don has distinguished himself as a fun-loving but hard-working student. He would love to fill the greater part of his day putting models together, playing the guitar, and riding motorcycles. He shares the natural dislikes of most teenage guys: studying and not getting enough sleep. Don has decided to go into the colporteur ministry after graduation.

Joanne Bell
Always laughing and joking is this fun-filled Senior. Joanne came to SVA her freshman year from Indian Head, Maryland. Collecting stuffed animals, writing letters, and drawing fill up her spare time. People who are stuckup and two-faced just are not at the top of her list. Next year will find Joanne at SMC studying to be a nurse.

Gail Bellamy
Bright-eyed and full of fun describes this senior. Gail always seems to be happy and she has won many friends her first year at SVA. Swimming, playing football, and photography take up her spare time. Drippy faucets and stuckup people she just can't stand. To most situations she grins and replies "Oh, Yeah!" To be a beautician is Gail's ambition in life.

Sandi Blosser
Sandi is known for her fine musical abilities, especially her skill on the piano. Her sense of humor and ready laugh have made her one of the more popular seniors. Sewing and swimming are two things Sandi really likes, but government class and early morning chapels are two things that she definitely dislikes. She plans to attend SMC but her career goals are undecided.

Sherri Boughman
Lively, vivacious Sherri comes from Tennessee. Her monitor will vouch that there is never a dull moment when she is around. She works in the English Department where she displays her creative abilities. Narrow-minded people and getting up at six every morning are among her few dislikes, so it is easy to understand why she has some of the most relaxing pastimes. We wish her good luck as she goes on to college.

Karalyn Crews
Karalyn is a new and welcome figure on our campus this year. She has already proved her efficiency through her hard work in the typing room. Karalyn enjoys cooking, sewing, fashioning clothes, and playing pool. Fat people and unmasculine boys are definitely not her favorites. Her interest in art work of any kind will figure prominently in her plans for the future.

Rory Daily
Although this is Rory's first year at SVA, he seems ideally suited for academy life. His outgoing personality has won him many friends and a position of responsibility in the boys' dorm. He likes the beach, horseback riding, and most of all, talking to girls. Next year will find Rory majoring in theology at CUC.

Only Yesterday They Were

Debbie Bowens
Lively and outgoing Debbie comes to us from Ohio. She has definitely made a mark for herself in ladies sports at SVA by her great skill in basketball. Aside from sports she also enjoys sewing, nature, and sleeping. Her genuine interest in others causes her to shy away from people who are obviously self-centered. We all wish Debbie the best of everything as she graduates.

Brenda Bragg
Here is a cute little blonde from Richmond, Virginia. Although this is Brenda's first year at SVA, she has won the respect of her classmates. Her favorite pastimes include writing, sewing, and swimming. Her artistic ability is obvious in the unique posters which decorate the religion bulletin boards. Brenda's aim is to become a social psychologist.

Myrna Brown
Quiet and thoughtful are perfect adjectives to describe this senior from Ontario, Canada. Myrna has won the admiration of many with her sincere approach to all aspects of school life. She has worked diligently in the bindery for two years, and enjoys such things as letter writing, reading, and playing the piano. We extend to her our best wishes as she leaves SVA to further her education.

Diane Clarke
Diane is a four-year student coming to us from Silver Spring, Maryland. Her bubbling personality has won her many friends here at SVA. She's always laughing about something and saying, "I don't believe it!" Her likes include the beach, music, and cooking. Her dislikes are stubborn people and noisy intercoms. Next year Diane plans to attend CUC and major in home economics.

Confused, Inexperienced Freshmen . . .

Roger Davis
If you hear a supersonic BOOM, you can bet it's Roger Davis and his D. C. Soul truck. His friendly ways and witty personality have made him one of the campus' favorites. He enjoys all sports, talking, and just being happy. If he calls you illiterate, don't take it personally; he says that to everyone! He is bound to be a success as he goes into either accounting or teaching.

Debbie Donachy
Debbie is one who will always be remembered for her willingness to help and her pleading smile. Because of her efficiency and her ability to get along with people she has served faithfully for two years in the office of the principal. This friendly gal enjoys reading and writing letters but dislikes dripping faucets. She has not quite decided on her career goal, but nursing or a medical secretary is on the top of the list.

Ellene Dahlberg
Angelic "Gould," with just a touch of devil in her, has shouldered more than her share of responsibility in the three years she's attended SVA. In her role as monitor you can often hear Ellene calming her noisy floor with "All right girls, I want SILENCE!" She enjoys water sports and traveling but hates disorganization and lying "friends." Our good wishes will follow her as she studies nursing at PUC.

Sharin Dunbebin
This lively monitor with sparkling brown eyes has been an asset to SVA for three years. Sharin's willingness to help wherever she is needed has earned her the reputation of one of the most dependable seniors on campus. Because of her own modest attitude it is easy to understand why her prime dislike is egotistical people. Sharin will leave us after graduation to pursue her goal as an elementary school teacher.

Donna Edwards
Exuberant and happy Donna has contributed a lot to the lighter side of campus life. She often looks unbelievably over the counter of the bookstore at a prospective customer and exclaims, "Are you for real?" She enjoys music, traveling, and especially talking. She will be missed by all when she leaves.

Darlene Elkins
We feel very fortunate that Darlene chose to come all the way from Ecuador to attend our academy. During her stay here she has touched many hearts with her fine Christian examples. "Tita" enjoys writing letters, reading, and collecting ancient flutes. She has made positive plans for furthering her education and has decided to major in Psychology.

Robert Gray
Friendly Bob is a familiar face to all of us. He enjoys filling his spare time playing softball, volleyball, roller skating, and talking to girls. Noisy alarm clocks are definitely his pet peeve. Because he enjoys working on cars, his work at Moyers' garage is a great pleasure to him. We wish him the best of luck as he graduates this year.

Faye Grove
Faye is a two year student at SVA, and it has become an established fact that her small stature is more than made up for by her enthusiastic outlook on life. She enjoys all sports, traveling, and sleeping, but drippy faucets really try her patience. Although Faye hasn't definitely decided on a college, she is certain that she wants to become a secretary.

Today They Are Confident

Sue Fabian
Sue, a first year student from Massachusetts, has fit right into school life here. This diligent senior has exhibited her capabilities in her work in the English Department. She greatly enjoys skiing, swimming, and sewing, but not drippy faucets and quiet boys. We are confident of her success as she enters into some aspect of the medical work.

Steve Feeback
Outgoing and full of spunk is "Fleebrain" who comes from Vienna, Virginia. Steve has outstanding leadership abilities and has taken an active part in both religious and social organizations on our campus. He has been a great asset to every one of the academy's musical organizations. He, quite naturally, enjoys girls, sleeping, and playing basketball. Steve's interest in aviation will figure prominently in his plans for the future.

Robin Guard
This quiet and sincere senior has attended SVA for the past four years. Robin has proved herself an efficient worker in the cafeteria. She enjoys swimming and crocheting. We wish Robin the best of luck as she prepares to become a telephone operator.

Gaylon Hevener
Although this is Gaylon's first year here at SVA, he has become well-known for his good sense of humor and diligence in his studies. Gaylon is often heard responding, "All right, you asked for it!" He enjoys playing the piano and eating popsicles. We will miss him as he leaves us this year.

David Ferrell
One of the most outstanding Seniors in academic achievements is David Ferrell. It would appear to most of his classmates that he possesses an almost unlimited vocabulary. He enjoys almost every sport and gets a big "bang" out of thunderstorms. One of David's goals in life is to complete a book on the understanding of God.

Barbara Gainer
Because she is always willing to take on even the most difficult tasks, Bobbi has been placed in many positions of responsibility during her stay at SVA. She has very definite artistic ability even though she happens to be too modest to admit it. Bobbi enjoys reading, sewing, cooking, and playing the piano. Students and faculty alike are confident of her success as she prepares to be an elementary teacher.

Patty Hevener
Patty is our petite and bubbly SA president. Patty is an excellent student with a definite flair for getting along with people. Her outside interests include water skiing, swimming, and knitting. Because of her own sunny disposition it is easy to understand why she greatly dislikes grouchy people. We wish her much success as she pursues a career in nursing or teaching.

Denise Hussong
This fun-loving senior comes to us from Hyattsville, Maryland. "Huss" has willingly accepted the frustrating job of providing the meals for those on sicklist. She enjoys almost every imaginable sport, with hiking and swimming heading the list. She has won many friends with her ready laugh and teasing ways. We wish her the best as she leaves SVA to major in dietetics.

Edward Jackson
Our highly qualified class president is one of the most well-rounded students on campus. His athletic prowess and witty personality cause him to be greatly appreciated by students and faculty alike. "Showboat," as he is fondly called by his close friends, seems to find the words "Don't Panic!" appropriate for most any situation. Our good wishes will follow him as he directs his education toward becoming an accountant.

Nancy Joice
Cheerful, freckled-face Nancy is a most welcome addition to our class "even if she is from Massachusetts". Being a very organized person she simply can't tolerate people who are always late. Nancy's favorite pastimes are snowskiing, swimming, and cooking. Her ambition is to become a business secretary.

Linda Leatherman
Quiet and thoughtful perfectly describe this senior. Linda is always most anxious to help whenever she feels she can be of use. She enjoys swimming, skating and horseback riding. Linda does not care at all for insincere people. She plans to attend SMC next year and later to teach home economics.

Larry Lee
Unpredictable Larry comes to SVA from Richmond, Virginia. His perpetual frankness has made him one of the leaders among the students. He has shown his creative abilities in his interesting seminar talks. Larry, very typically, likes sports and girls. Because of his desire to understand people, he should do quite well in either psychology or the ministry.

Seniors Enjoy The Challenging

Barbara Jones
Although Barb appears to be rather quiet and shy, her roommate will attest to the fact that she is actually a very lively bundle of mischief. Being musically inclined, she greatly enjoys playing the piano and guitar. Barbara has not yet announced any definite plans for the future, but we wish her the best of luck in whatever she chooses.

John Klaver
John's dynamic personality has distinguished him as one of the leaders of our class. If you want an honest, forthright opinion, just call on him. A few of his favorite pastimes are hiking, football and volleyball. We extend best wishes to him as he studies to become either a teacher or a minister.

Sue Koliadko
Our friendly class vice-president has endeared herself to many during her two year stay at SVA. Sue is the type of girl you can always count on to get a job done well and on time. Because she is so friendly herself, grumpy people really peeve her. She would be content to spend all of her spare time swimming, eating, or sleeping. Sue expects to fulfill her career goals by becoming a physical therapist.

Darcy Lambertson
During her two-year stay, this friendly senior has shown us her versatile musical talents. Darcy's interest in her fellow students comes to her naturally, for her parents were missionaries in Puerto Rico. She enjoys collecting postcards, skating, and playing several instruments. Her pet peeve definitely has to be alarm clocks. Darcy has the admirable goal of becoming a successful wife and mother.

Positions Of Responsibility . . .

Tom Little
This is Tom's first year here at SVA. He is hard-working and his labors are greatly appreciated by the campus crew. He has one dislike — MONITORS! This is hard to understand as Tom is a rather quiet "Old Boy." Tom hasn't decided on his career goals but we extend our warmest wishes to him.

David Marcussen
This fun-loving, laughable senior calls Richmond, Virginia, his home. Although David is always ready for a joke he does have his very serious moments. He enjoys motorcycles, the beach, and lending his musical talent to instrumental groups on campus. David hasn't made any definite plans for his career, but we wish him the very best in whatever he chooses.

Terri McNulty
One of the most unique individuals on campus this year is Terri. Her friendliness and enthusiasm have made her well-liked and respected by all. Being one of our top students, she greatly enjoys her work in the science lab. A few of her favorite things are horses, music, and water sports. As she leaves us this year she will go on to pursue a teaching career.

Ken Mattison
Montevideo, Uruguay, is the home of this very talented and responsible senior. Ken's kindness and out-going personality have made him very well-liked here at SVA. Water-skiing, music, and traveling are some of his very favorite activities. His dislikes are few but they do include gloomy people and programs that are a failure. We wish Ken the best of luck as he attends SMC next year to major in theology.

Jerry Mayers
Jerry has truly added life to our class with his keen mind and vivid imagination. He is full of the joy of life and really has a good grasp on where he's going. Jerry likes to spend free time building boats, and motorcycle riding. His success is certain as he works to become a business executive.

Carolyn Mitchell
This perpetually smiling senior is a four year student from Radford, Virginia. Carol can always be counted on to see the bright side of even the most gloomy situations. She enjoys writing letters, playing tennis, and caring for children. Because she likes working with people, Carol hopes to become a nurse and SMC is her choice as a college.

Bill Saukel
Here we have a unique combination of a real intellectual and one of the most fun-loving guys on campus. Bill's friendliness and fabulous sense of humor have made him extremely well liked. He has taken on many responsibilities of academy life, including editor of the SHENANDOAN. Bill enjoys camping, reading, and listening to music. We wish him all the luck in the world as he pursues a career in science or medicine.

Randy Seeders
Calm and easy going Randy has been a fine asset to our class for the past three years. He is quite skilled in basketball and football. Randy also likes guitars and motorcycles, but definitely not noisy alarm clocks and loud people. His plans after graduation will be guided by his desire to become a teacher.

And Are Elated At The Thought

Of Graduation Day Soon To Come!

Mary Ann Muncey
This highly efficient and intelligent senior has proven her capabilities by her diligent work in the Business Office. Mary Ann does especially well in English and is always able to take an active part in class discussions. She enjoys baseball, gardening, and painting. Mary Ann plans to go into the field of mathematics or business. We wish her great success.

Lisa Murphy
Lisa's most obvious quality is a calm, quiet approach to everything she does. Underneath her doll-like appearance, she is quite the capable gal as she has displayed through her hard work in the Bible Department. She enjoys the feminine hobbies of sewing, needlework, and cooking. Lisa is sure to make someone a very efficient secretary in the near future.

Ronnie Skidmore
The most likely place to find Skid's name is at the top of the honor roll. His organizational ability and his dry sense of humor are some things that set him apart in a special way from the others in his class. People who don't act their age are his big gripe. Ronnie can often be heard exclaiming, "Hey, that's neat!" Our best wishes will follow him as he leaves SVA to study law.

Steve Smith
Steve, a highly respected two year student, came to us from Crimora, Virginia. Although he is rather quiet and shy, his sincere personality has won him many friends. He enjoys bowling but basketball is probably his favorite sport. Steve has not yet announced any definite plans for the future, but we wish him the very best of luck in whatever he chooses.

Janice Phillips
Jan enjoys good music and has contributed much of her pleasing talent in all musical areas on SVA's campus. Her friendly smile and sense of humor have made her a favorite among the residents of J. Lee Price Hall where she works as secretary to Dean Spano. Her sense of responsibility is obvious in the challenging job of Senior Assistant Editor of the SHENANDOAN. Jan's good study habits will aid her immensely as she goes into nurse's training.

Clyde Runyon
This individualist who loves cars, motorcycles, some sports, and of course, girls, Clyde B. is familiar to all as he has lived near the SVA campus for most of his life. We will miss his cheery smile and friendly "Hi" as he graduates this year.

Jacki Smouse
Although feminine and understanding Jacki does not let the major traumas of Hadley Hall get her down, she can often be seen banging her head against the wall and sobbing, "Oh, what's a mother to do?" She enjoys the beach, playing tennis and informing her friends, "Well, I don't dislike you entirely!" We are sure that her sparkling eyes and charming personality will cheer many as she enters the medical field.

Nancy Thompson
Nancy comes from Portsmouth, Virginia, and for two years has shown us her friendly and considerate personality. She is, besides being an honor student, one of the most respected girls in our class. Nancy likes sleeping, reading, and playing the piano. It also gives her great pleasure to walk in on a group of her friends and gleefully announce, "It's me!" Nancy plans a career in nursing.

Juniors Progress Under Clarke

Sharon Titus
Whenever you hear happy chatter and laughter you know Sharon must be nearby. Her classmates have come to wonder if there is anything so bad that it could dampen her high spirits. Her sunny personality makes it easy for her to make friends, which just happens to be the thing she enjoys the most. Sharon plans to become a nurse.

Elsa Valdez
If you hear the words, "Are you kidding me?" tinged with a Spanish accent, it has to be our mischievous Elsa from Venezuela. Although bouncy and full of fun, she is very efficient in her job as lobby monitor. Elsa enjoys all sports, traveling, music, and reading. Snobby people are one of the few things that thoroughly disgust her. She has chosen to go into either geology or archeology.

Seniors Regret Saying Good-bye.

Cindy Vallaster
Petite and soft spoken Cindy loves daisies and playing in the rain. Don't let her quietness fool you though, for she is one of the most mischievous girls in our dorm. Her creativity has made her an asset to our class for the past three years. Because of her own honest approach to life, she finds it difficult to understand people who are hung up on being what they aren't. You may not believe this, but Cindy's ambition in life is to become a forest ranger.

Melodie White
This little bundle of laughter and mischief has been cheering up our campus for the past two years. Melodie is always laughing about something, no matter what! Her favorite activities include horseback riding and water skiing. She hates the fact that there is no electricity in the dorms after 10:15. Melodie's ambition is to become a secretary.

Jack Wright
Coming from Kilmarnock, Virginia, this is Jack's first, and of course, last year at SVA. He is a quiet but active person who enjoys canoeing, swimming, and hiking. Required activities and morning bells are not his favorites. "Aw, come!" he is often heard commenting. Jack plans to go into the field of agriculture after graduation.

Dawna Zimmerman
Quiet "Zimmer" from Maryland, enjoys tumbling, camping, sewing, and playing pranks. Truthfully, she is a very witty person with a ready laugh. Being a monitor is frustrating enough without being thrown off your own hall, as Dawna will readily tell you. Her favorite come back to derogatory remarks is "Ah, go on!" She plans to further her education at CUC.

Faculty

The exuberance of youth sometimes needs the steady influence of another, more settled person, someone who has experienced life and knows what he wants from it.

Our teachers and friends . . .

ROY BOEHM

Roy Boehm

Mr. "Boom", our world history and American government teacher, is an alumnus of SVA and has taught here for two years. You may often hear him say, "You may be asking yourself, 'Self, why is this so?'" Mr. Boehm served as the MV sponsor this year, while sports and stamp-collecting occupied his spare time. He also sponsors an annual field trip to Washington, D. C.

David Burghart

Mr. Burghart, with his smiling face and boyish enthusiasm, is a welcome addition to our campus this year. Teaching organ, band, and wind ensemble, as well as private lessons, keeps him very busy. During his free time you may find him bicycling, horseback-riding, playing volleyball, swimming, or skiing.

DAVID BURGHART

VERNA BURGHART

Verna Burghart

This year we have another friendly face on our campus from Union College. Aside from her duties as registrar, Mrs. Burghart is secretary to the principal. During her spare time she enjoys sewing, cooking, and housekeeping. When with her husband, she particularly enjoys pizza, traveling, and just about anything that they can do together.

Marty Coon

Our cheerful and efficient nurse is much appreciated by the students who have been under her care. She can be called upon at any time, not only to heal aches and pains, but to help the students with personal problems that might arise. Caring for her family of four children guarantees anything but dull moments while away from campus.

MARTY COON

we will always remember them . . .

CAROLA COPENHAVER

Carola Copenhaver

This is the fourth year here for our petite and lovely Home Ec and Girls' P.E. teacher. Now a mother herself, she is all the more qualified to assist the girls in learning how to prepare for their future homes. Cooking, knitting, embroidery, and sewing fill up her free time. Mrs. Copie is eagerly anticipating the Home Ec lab that is now under construction in the new Science Building.

Herbert Copenhaver, Sr.

Jolly Copie, Sr., our campus custodian, has become the proudest grandpa on campus. When he isn't talking about his new grandson, he is busy keeping up the grounds and the campus buildings. He enjoys the family tradition, golf, and also likes birdwatching.

HERBERT COPENHAVER, JR.

HERBERT COPENHAVER, SR.

Herbert Copenhaver, Jr.

Mr. Copie, Jr., our biology and chemistry teacher, is well known for his tough Biology II and chemistry exams. When he is not busy thinking up new trick questions, he can be found playing basketball, golf, or babysitting with Copie, III. A second generation alumnus himself, Mr. Copie is the National Honor Society sponsor, chairman of the Scholarship Committee, and assistant sponsor of the SA and the Camping Club.

They sought to teach us

how to find ourselves . . .

Margaret Dove
Mrs. Dove has mothered hundreds of students during the ten years she has worked in the cafeteria. Her good food, helpful attitude, and long hours of hard work have been appreciated by all the students. She likes to be around young people, and she enjoys china painting in her free time.

MARGARET DOVE

Ted Decker
T. D. (as he is commonly known) is especially noted for his cheertful outlook on life. He is an avid basketball fan, as well as an admirer and active participant of any other sport imaginable. This is his second year here as farm manager, and he has been kept extra busy this year taking care of the horses.

MICHAEL GAMMON

Michael Gammon
Mr. Gammon (Rubber Ducky) has the most dangerous job on campus—teaching Driver's Ed! Not only does he continually put his life into the hands of a student driver, but he also teaches auto mechanics as well as keeping the school equipment in perfect running order. He and his wife, both new from Mt. Pisgah Academy, spend their time traveling whenever possible. At home they are often occupied with their pet squirrel monkey, "Jo-Jo."

TED DECKER

SHIRLEY GAMMON

John Henline
J. J., the "Enrico Caruso" of SVA, is often heard singing and playing his new 12-string guitar. During the three years he has been here, the PE department has seen many improvements, including glass backboards for the gym. Mr. Henline is often seen showboating on the football field or the basketball court, while bragging about his West Virginia "ancestor", Jerry West.

JUNE HOOPER

Shirley Gammon
We feel very fortunate to have an outstanding business education teacher with us this year. Mrs. Gammon keeps herself well occupied by teaching Typing I and II, shorthand, and bookkeeping. When she has time to spare from all her duties at school and around her home, she enjoys spending it with her husband on the snowy mountain slopes skiing.

June Hooper
Mrs. Hooper has spent many years in the mission field, and her favorite pastimes are traveling and reading. These are all very good reasons why she is a well-qualified librarian. This job takes up a lot of her time, since SVA students are becoming quite voracious young readers. Mrs. Hooper has been on this campus for three years. A future dream of hers is to obtain a library in the new Ad Building with an abundance of room for the books.

JOHN HENLINE

RICHARD JEWETT

Richard Jewett
Elder Jewett, our friendly and popular pastor, teaches Old Testament and Youth Guidance in addition to pastoring the New Market church. He spends a lot of time counseling students and preparing youth-oriented prayer meeting talks. He likes sports, excelling in softball and basketball, and also enjoys creative writing.

WILLIAM JOHNSTON

William Johnston
Our second year physics and math teacher, "Gunkie," has the longest Southern drawl on campus. Teaching general science, general math, advanced math, and physics keep him well occupied, while in his spare time he enjoys camping and coin collecting. He has co-sponsored the MV Society, devoting much of his time to organizing its activities.

SARAH JANE LIERS

Sarah Jane Liers
Our efficient Algebra I, II, and geometry teacher guarantees that all her students "get their money's worth." Many students have come to understand better the mysterious world of equations, theorems, proofs, and variables. As Junior Class sponsor, she is appreciated for her organizational ability in planning activities and raising funds. She enjoys music, gardening, and sewing (including geometric-figured curtains for the math lecture room).

HELMUT LIERS

Helmut Liers
For fifteen years our bindery manager, Mr. Liers, has been at SVA. With the addition of the plastics industry the new bindery building is the home of Shenandoah Valley Industries. Mr. Liers enjoys beekeeping, cattle raising, farming, and mechanics. He is also a Junior Class sponsor.

ROLLAND McKIBBIN

Rolland McKibbin
This is Mr. McKibbin's second year at SVA, and he has filled the position as manager of the business office excellently. His generosity is exemplified around Christmas time by the bottomless candy dish prominently placed in the office. His personal interests include wood-working projects and rebuilding automobiles.

ALFRED MOULDER

Alfred Moulder
Mr. Moulder has capably assisted Mr. Liers in supervising the bindery at SVA for eight years. The bindery workers appreciate his willingness to help whenever the need arises. In his free time after hours he enjoys sight-seeing, wood-working, swimming, watching spectator sports. Although he doesn't say much, Mr. Moulder is one of the best read men on campus.

JUDY PEARSON

Judy Pearson
This charming newlywed comes to us from Texas and is a graduate of Union College. She is extremely busy because she has the responsibility of teaching voice and piano lessons as well as directing choir and chorale. Music, although her profession, is also her hobby. In addition, she enjoys sewing and cooking.

KATHLEEN RILEY

Kathleen Riley
This marks the tenth year Mrs. Riley has worked here on campus. She manages the Campus Store and occasionally takes over the girls' dorm on weekends. Her constant helpfulness around the bookstore is appreciated by many customers who frequent it daily. The addition of a snack bar in the store has, of course, been a universal hit.

EDWARD REIFSNYDER

Edward Reifsnyder
Our perpetually smiling principal is well liked and respected by both students and faculty. The door to his office is always open to welcome each and every visitor. In good weather Elder Reifsnyder often relaxes with his fishing gear beside cool streams. This year he has been the moving force behind the construction of the new Science Building and Student Center.

KARIN RUYBALID

Karin Ruybalid
Mrs. Ruybalid, our Freshman and Junior English teacher, is well-liked for her method of teaching, along with her witty comments and wisecrack in class. She enjoys working with students and they love her in return for easing the pressures of school routine and making life a little more enjoyable. Even with her busy schedule, she finds time for her favorite pastimes which are skiing and sleeping.

M. KEITH RUYBALID

M. Keith Ruybalid
Our cheerful religion teacher has done a good job of teaching the sophomore and junior Bible classes how to master their emotions. His many talents, especially singing, have earned him the position of director of the adult choir. He enjoys skiing and sponsors our ski club.

CARL SPANO

Carl Spano
Our jolly Italian dean is often heard expounding his learned philosophy all around campus. He has spent much of his time in his two years here upgrading and improving the boys' dorm. He worked in Georgia and Canada before coming to SVA. He enjoys playing tennis, handball, softball, and he loves motorcycling.

WILLIAM STRICKLAND

William Strickland
Our foreign language teacher and assistant principal, Mr. Strickland, has taught here for thirteen years. He has sponsored several Spanish field trips and is the Camping Club sponsor. This year, in addition, he is the sponsor of the SA and the Junior Class. His excellent ideas and hard work have been a real asset to these organizations. In his free time, he enjoys photography, coin collecting, and bird watching.

JUDY VANCE

Judy Vance

Our lively and vivacious dean has the "thrilling" job of playing mother to a dorm full of fun-loving girls. Miss Vance definitely has to be one of the busiest people on campus. However, she always manages to find time to solve the earth-shaking problems that teen-age girls are always managing to come up with. In her spare time she enjoys skiing, the beach, and getting away from it all in the "green machine."

GLORIA VEGA

Gloria Vega

Mrs. Vega provides her sophomore and senior English students with some of the most interesting and enjoyable classes on campus. She is indefatigable and has had the large responsibility of annual advisor for the past six years. Mrs. Vega is highly talented in sewing and cooking, and often delights her hard-working annual staff with delicious home-made delicacies.

and most of all, to pray with us.

CLARENCE WILLIAMS

Clarence Williams
Mr. Williams has taught American history here for seven years, and he is also the Guidance Counselor. The American history class has visited such historical areas as Williamsburg and the New Market Battlefield this year. His main talent is "singing," but he is also an excellent softball pitcher and enjoys skiing and building.

Beverly Williams

The lady in the business office with the friendly smile and helpful attitude is Mrs. Williams. She is the one that has to fight the obstinate computer every month to get out the student statements. The payroll is another big responsibility delegated to her. In her spare time she enjoys sewing, reading, and playing the piano.

BEVERLY WILLIAMS

CLARICE WHITE

Clarice White
"Mother Hubbard," our talented campus emcee, works in the cafeteria when not thinking up witty sayings for the new "Cauldron Bubbles" program. This is the tenth year she has displayed her big smile on campus, and she has been in a hurry the whole time. However, she occasionally finds time for camping, sewing, and interior decorating.

Wilton White

Our maintenance supervisor for several years, Mr. White, is always busy making repairs in the dormitories or on the buses. He is the one who doctors the heating and plumbing systems on campus when they are out of order. Mr. White makes a hobby of ham radio communication, and he is able to contact people all over the world.

Activities

Sometimes we needed activities to help us unwind from the monotony of school work. We will always remember the good times we have had throughout the years.

Picnic Activities Bring Classes

Come on you guys, pull harder!

Was the pie really worth it, Nancy?

Sonny Wilhelm is the lucky winner.

Now Jeanne, let's not argue with the umpire.

Together in Competition

A beautiful day, October 6, made way for SVA's annual fall picnic. One o'clock found the students in the chapel listening to Elder Reifsnnyder outline the day's events. To start off the holiday was an exciting All-Star vs. Faculty softball game with the faculty wiping out. Meanwhile, on the adjoining field, the girls exerted their energies in a similar fashion — another softball game.

One of the highlights of the day was the greased pole contest. A five-dollar bill was attached to the top of the pole enticing students to participate. After many futile struggles by various participants, Sonny Wilhelm emerged as victor — a little greasy perhaps — but $5.00 richer! Another event was the egg-throwing contest, but some people seemed to have gotten a little side-tracked. What could be more delightful than having a natural egg shampoo on a hot sunshiny day!

Another highlight of the day was the pie-eating contest. The students clamored around the bleachers loaded with tantalizing blueberry pies. At the signal, each contestant attacked his pie vigorously. Some perhaps got a little more on their faces than in their stomachs, while others cheated a little and nonchalantly took their time savoring each bite. Monkee Martin won for the guys, while Nancy Dahlberg claimed the title for the girls as she did last year at the Freshman-Sophomore picnic.

A picnic supper was served under the trees. As soon as Mr. Henline and Mr. Spano cleaned up the leftovers, a 3-legged ball game was organized. The All-Stars challenged the Seniors to a football game. It was a close game but the All-Stars finally came out on top.

Cindy Bestpitch, Mrs. Gammon, Elinor Millner, and Larry Lee enjoy eating their lunch by the pond.

Spectators relax while watching the competition.

Poor Elinor! How will you ever get that egg mess out of your hair?

Faculty Presents "Cauldron Bubbles"

This year the Campus Women's Club presented faculty talent in an extraordinary program, "The Cauldron Bubbles". Mrs. White and Dean Spano, portraying an old hillbilly couple on Halloween, emceed.

Mr. Boehm, Mr. Burghart, Mr. Ruybalid, and J. J., who accompanied them on the guitar, sang "A Little Less of Me." Elder Jewett gave an interesting interpretation of "The Night Before Christmas." It was followed by a piano-organ duet by our music directors who played a medley from "The Sound of Music" accompanied by picturesque slides.

Next on the program was a "proposal in song" by Mr. Boehm who vainly courted Daisy (Mr. Decker). After intermission came the highlight and perhaps favorite performance of all. Mr. Gammon regressed back to his childhood and sat in his tubby with his bubbles and his rubber ducky to whom he sang a dear little song. Mrs. Spano, dressed as she might have in her childhood days, gave a reading about a small girl and her woeful life with an old maid aunt. Mr. Boehm reminisced on high school days and bemoaned his plight in the song, "Hello Mudder, Hello Fadder." To close the evening, Mr. Burghart, Mr. Ruybalid, Miss Clarke, and Mr. David Pearson gave a magnificent operatic rendition of "Old Mother Hubbard."

Faculty wives sing "Lolly-Too-Dum-Day".

Old South Is Relived In Plantation Theme

On Sunday evening, November 22, the high point of first semester began. Dean Spano encouraged almost every boy into asking a girl, and everyone worked hard to look their best. Couples met in the lobby of Hadley Hall to walk to the cafeteria for dinner. The dining hall resembled a fancy banquet hall, with gold drapes, soft music and candlelight setting a charming atmosphere. The Southern meal was delicious and enjoyed by all.

Host John Spano and Hostess Karen Sincavage pose for picture.

Price Hall was the attraction which followed the banquet. The rooms were especially nice, each one portraying the individualism of its owners. If that wasn't enough, people could go to the recreation room to have pictures taken. A mural there portrayed the front porch and lawn of a plantation house.

After walking around the dorm, it seemed like a good idea to go over to the gym and have a seat. A cannon from the New Market Battlefield greeted everyone at the entrance. The backdrop was truly inspirational, a battlefield scene with Yankee and Confederate flags hanging over a cannon silhouetted against a red sky.

John Aitken and Harold Baasch, a duo of singing, guitar-playing, Swiss bell ringers, presented the entertainment. They were accompanied by their tape recorder as they played many contemporary songs.

Following the music and laughter was the motion picture "Proud Rebel," the story of a Southerner and his son who travel North to find the speechless boy a doctor. Their problems stem from trying to live among hostile neighbors. The film ends happily when the boy regains his voice.

Many were reluctant to see the evening end, but will for a long time hold happy memories. Many thanks to Roger Davis for his hard work in getting it all together.

Juniors Visit Colonial Williamsburg, Jamestown

As a combined English III—American History project, students spent two days touring Colonial Williamsburg and Jamestown. Under the watchful supervision of Mr. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Ruybalid, the eager students left SVA at the wee morning hour of 5:00 a.m., November 16, 1970. Three-and-one-half hours later the buses pulled into the Information Center at Williamsburg just in time to view the movie "The Story of a Patriot." The remainder of the morning and afternoon hours were spent touring the Old Jail, the House of Burgesses, the Governor's Palace, and the Powder House. As the time neared 3:30 p.m., the business section of town was invaded as the weary students spent their free time shopping. An enjoyable evening at Williamsburg Lodge seemed to put everyone in high spirits partially making up for poor, tired feet.

Revived by a good night's sleep, the students proceeded to Jamestown. After touring the Old World Pavilion, the Fort, and the Three Ships, most agreed that it was time to return to good ole' SVA. A lunch in Richmond and a few hours traveling concluded their trip, and 5:00 p.m. found them back on campus, a little more enlightened about our country's heritage.

Christian Living is Week of Prayer Theme

Our Fall Week of Spiritual Emphasis was conducted by Dr. E. M. Chalmers, Chairman of the Department of Psychology at CUC. Dr. Chalmers gave us logical reasons and practical methods for leading a Christian life. His son, Verlin, co-ordinator of an experimental youth center in Georgetown called "The Gate," conducted student feedback and led out in song services during the meetings. He is the composer of many songs, including our theme song for the week. Aside from speaking to the group as a whole, the father-son team counseled many of the students individually in both dormitories. At the end of the week, Verlin made a call for the students to commit their lives to God fully in whatever occupations they chose.

Shen-Val-Lore Shows Progress With Ferrell

The Shen-Val-Lore Staff this year has worked efficiently in trying to get the paper out on time. As a reward to all the students who received 15 subscriptions or more, the Bangaroo was held in Washington at the National Christmas Tree Lighting with President Nixon.

Editor David Ferrell and assistant editor Ronnie Skidmore have worked hard on improving the paper. The work has shown effective as new columns have been introduced. All the seniors have been reviewed through a revised Senior Profiles and a "Dear Walter" column portrays a counsellor advising students with their personal problems.

Students Make Six Piñatas

Saturday night, December 19, was the date of the annual SA Christmas party. A little variety was added by the fact that it was Sadie Hawkins and that the lighting was supplied by a generator because the electricity was off.

The program began with a song by Verlin Chalmers, the emcee for the evening. He soon enticed the student body to join in the singing. The Senior Girls' Trio favored us with a song "Winter Wonderland." "Youngsters," Nancy Dahlberg and Donna Brown, then sang a song dedicated to their "daddy" David Sincavage. Dave Marcussen and Larry Lee did their thing on the tricycles. "The Gift of The Magi" was dramatically portrayed by Petra Norman and Jerry Mayers.

Cookies and punch were served followed by the breaking of the piñatas constructed by the Spanish class. Then everyone gathered at the front of the gym to watch the movie, "The Prince and The Pauper." Thus ended a very lovely evening.

Juniors Display Gray Blazers At Special Breakfast

An event that should have awakened any sleepy breakfast-goer was the Junior Breakfast when the juniors officially displayed their new blazers for the first time. The blazers are charcoal gray with a blue and gold emblem which was unique this year in that it included our school seal. The motto that appeared above the emblem was "PERFECTUS CUM DEO," which means "Perfection With God." The juniors marched in to the tune of the "Triumphal March." Doug Clarke welcomed the students and Ken Ford gave a short devotional. The special menu for the juniors included waffles with strawberries and whipped cream. The program, emceed by Kim Schneider, began as soon as everyone has finished eating. Donna Brown gave a really out of sight rendition of "Both Sides Now," accompanied by Nancy Bartling on the guitar. Keith White, Kim Schneider, and Walter Kowtoniuk did a parody of WSIG's Helping Hand program, trying to sell, among other things, a wrecked-up, useless, old Cadillac which was green with a white top. Janet Perry interviewed LBJ, and we found out many things about him that we never knew before. Last, and best, was "Senior Profiles," with Fred Shumate as Eddie Jackson, and Fred Reiss depicting our resident intellectual, David Ferrell.

Junior officers: Ken Ford, pastor; Kim Schneider, sgt.-at-arms; Doug Clarke, president; Sharon Turner, secretary; Monica Pierson, treasurer; Terrie Dopp, vice-president.

Dalhberg Wins ATS Orations Contest

For the second year in a row, Nancy Dahlberg won first prize in the ATS oration program. In her dramatic presentation, "Wake Up and Dig Life," Nancy took advantage of the relaxed contest rules which for the first time permitted entrants to use props and visual aids. Other orators included Donna na Brown, who also spoke on drugs; Joe McDaniel, who focused on temperate eating habits; and Walter Kowtoniuk, who presented the alcohol problem.

Nancy Dalhberg dramatically presented her oration.

Jill Early won the poster contest with an entry headed "Stop Before It's Too Late." Her poster, done in fluorescent paints, showed a Medusa-like mass of hands reaching wildly and confusedly for drugs.

Elder Dopp awards the orators.

Susan Allen's jingle, "Smoking grass and popping pills/Often brings unwanted ills" won the first prize in that category. Runners-up were Cindy McCleod in second place and Karen Sincavage in third.

During the time allotted to the judges, the audience watched two newly-produced films. The first one depicted the permanent physical effects of alcohol, and the second one was about the degrading influences of drugs on all social classes.

ATS officers encouraged entries in this year's contests by offering a free trip to the Tastee-Freez for participants. Needless to say, the judges had many entries from which to choose with such a promotion.

Jill Early is congratulated by Elder Dopp on her winning poster. To the left are Terri Dopp and Bonnie Barrows, also poster winners.

Senior Benefit Tremendous Success: Fair Nets Over $225

This year's Seniors really decided to do things up right for their Senior Benefit Night. Their idea of a fair sparked the interest of many students and village people, evidenced by over $225 profit.

The food booths were in one general area. The "Sugar Shack" had plenty of ice cream, drinks, and candy bars, and the "Pizza Hut" had a busy time keeping up with the orders. There was also a stand selling vegeburgers and the like, with a help-yourself relish service.

Other booths included the "Arch'ry" center, where Monkee risked his life identifying points for "skilled" archers. Also on the scene were the K-Putt, bowling, dart throwing, and several other interesting attractions.

But by far the greatest money-bringer-inner was the Faculty Dunking Booth. This was the perfect opportunity to take revenge on Mr. Williams and Dean Spano. But faculty weren't the only ones to meet judgment—David Ferrell can testify to that! Of course, you can also ask Butch Bestpitch, Gidge Bellamy, or Carolyn Mitchell, and you'll see what I mean.

Seniors Enjoy Gov't. — English Trip To D.C.

Giggly Gail keeps the whole group in smiles.

David Marcussen, Jerry Mayers, and Gail Bellamy visit George Washington's tomb.

Roger and Bill contribute live sculpture to the treasures of the art gallery . . .

One of the highlights of English and government classes this year was the three day trip to Washington where seniors saw first-hand some of the cultural, historical, and political treasures of the nation. However, nobody had planned on Washington changing his birthday, so at the last minute itinerary changes had to be made.

The first stop found the seniors at Ford's Theater Museum where they saw a live production of "John and Abigail," a play based on the informative and witty letters and journals of Abigail and John Adams during the years of the American Revolution.

On Sunday evening the students attended a concert which featured music for soprano, flute, and harpsichord at the National Art Gallery. Naturally, they also enjoyed many of the fine art treasures of the gallery, and most of them purchased reproductions which they used as a basis for a speech given later in English class.

Early Monday morning everyone boarded the bus prepared to explore the Smithsonian Institute. Upon arriving, however, they discovered it wouldn't open until ten o'clock, so many set off for the Washington Monument while others went over to the National Archives.

On the way to historic Mt. Vernon, the group stopped at Arlington Cemetery to see the changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Afterward many walked to the gravesites of John and Robert Kennedy.

On the third day seniors were guided through the FBI exhibits and visited the Folger Shakespearean Library where they sat in a replica of an Elizabethan theatre and laughed at 16th century zodiac descriptions.

One of the most memorable stops was the tour of the Library of Congress by Mr. Wilson whose very interesting presentation prevented some of the group from touring the U.S. Capitol. But then one must leave something for the next Washington trip.

And then everyone wanted in on the action.

Darlene Elkins got a good look at the signatures on the Constitution at the National Archives.

Does this make the fourth or fifth time we've been down this street?

Roger Davis finally made it into the space program.

Cindy Vallaster and Bill Saukel find early documents of American history fascinating.

The National Art Gallery almost felt like home base after attending a concert there, taking the tour, and eating twice at their cafeteria.

Most seniors felt badly about not having more time to spend at the Smithsonian Institute.

Senior Supper Anticipates Graduation

On February 24, fifty-four happy Seniors marched into the cafeteria before the envious eyes of the underclassmen. As the last strains of Pomp and Circumstance faded, the Seniors removed their "graduation caps" and were seated on the mezzanine for a delicious supper of lasagna, garlic bread, tossed salad, and hot fudge cake. Following dinner, our emcee for the evening, Roger Davis, was introduced by President Ed Jackson. Ed was interrupted when David Ferrell, alias Colonel "K," entered with a large order of fried chicken for the Senior Class. Colonel "K" was assured that some mistake had been made and was sent on his way. Jan Phillips and Ken Mattison were introduced as the first special number on the program. Their duet was followed by a series of humorous skits which were interrupted frequently by the re-entry of Colonel "K." The program ended much too soon and the Seniors stayed by to autograph each other's caps which will later remind them of a very memorable evening.

"I wish they'd get these pictures over so we could eat."

"Fella, this is your chicken!"

"But I though you brought the Listerine breath spray."

Ken Mattison and Jan Phillips start the entertainment by singing "Let It Be Me."

Ron (Pinocchio) Skidmore springs to life and gives the old puppetmaker a heart attack.

Bill Saukel lathers up before he finds out what he really needs.

Organizations

Some of us assumed roles of leadership in organizations which helped our school run smoothly. We learned how to fulfill our obligations and meet new responsibilities.

MV Sponsors Varied Activities

Our campus MV Society, under the guidance of Mr. Roy Boehm and Mr. Bill Johnston, has been quite active this year. It got off to an excellent start with a benefit in the form of a Truth or Consequences program. The benefit proved to be very entertaining and also quite profitable. This profit was used to purchase literature, films, and to pay for off-campus evangelistic activities. The MV Society regularly sponsors Sabbath afternoon activities which give students the opportunity for off-campus evangelism. One of the most outstanding activities was an excursion to the University of Virginia campus to distribute "Wayout" literature. The last major MV project for this school year was the organization of jail bands. The experience of presenting programs and talking individually to prisoners proved most rewarding for all who participated.

Students participated in Sabbath afternoon jail bands.

Seminar Travels Over 3,000 Miles To Visit The Area Churches

This is the second year for the Shenandoah Seminar, a branch of the MV. Seminar is composed of groups of six to seven students who are interested in sharing the reality of their religion with others. Not only do the students travel a great deal, within a 250 mile radius of the school, they also give a Seminar meeting one Friday night each month on campus. When on the road, the Seminar gives the eleven o'clock service at church on Sabbath. The program consists of two 10-15 minute sermonettes with special music between them. Often they also present various other programs such as Friday night MV or Sabbath afternoon vespers. The greatest reward of the trips is knowing that we've inspired others, but an extra bonus is eating the good, home-cooked meals provided by church members.

Rory Daily is congratulated on a fine talk by a member of the Richmond, Va. church.

Larry Lee emphasizes a point in his talk on prejudice with a text from the Reach Out Bible.

Chorale Appears on WSVN Television

This year, our SVA Chorale, under the direction of Mrs. Judy Pearson, has enriched our conference as well as our school. In addition to traveling throughout the conference performing for the "Go-Tell" rallies held in various cities on Sabbath afternoons, they appeared on WSVN television.

The program presented was broadcast on Christmas day for all in the vicinity of SVA to see what good representation we had from our school. They also sang, along with the choir, such songs as, "Twas the Night before Christmas" and "Let it Snow," for our annual Band and Choir Christmas program.

Chorale is taped for TV presentation.

Lights, camera, action!

American Temperance Society Chapter

ATS President Nancy Dahlberg and date Gary Knickerbocker pose for the camera's eye.

When Nancy ordered candlelight, she must have specified the least amount possible.

After it's all over David Strickland and Linda Purdy sit down to enjoy their dessert. Such is the lot of photographers.

Cindy Bestpitch and Kim Schneider stay by as part of the clean-up crew which cleared tables. With every bit of fun comes some work, too.

Recognizes Members With Candlelight Banquet

The American Temperance Society of SVA innovates a new and stimulating idea: a banquet celebrating St. Patrick's Day was held February 28, 1971, for all ATS members and faculty associated with temperance. The cafeteria was transformed into a land of the shamrocks and elves. The tables were dressed in cloths of green and white and lighted with candles. Green and white streamers draped from the ceiling to the tables created a charming atmosphere. Green paper shamrocks were given to all members and faculty as a pass to be presented to the hostess and host at the door to indicate ATS membership. Soft music added to the feeling of contentment that pervaded. After an official greeting by the ATS secretary-treasurer Cindy Bestpitch, who also offered the grace, the dinner was under way. The meal consisted of a Waldorf salad, dinner rolls, a relish tray, lime gelatin salad, peas, corn, creamed potatoes, and deep fried scallops. For dessert Mrs. Dove brought on a moist chocolate cake lavishly iced with peppermint whipped cream.

Sports

Sportsmanship is an evidence of true maturity. Whether it be softball, football, volleyball, or basketball, we all manage to get a piece of the action, even if it only means sitting on the sidelines.

Jackson's Colts Finish Season Undefeated

Football this year proved very interesting. New innovations such as an eight-man team and the 20-yard first down demanded a passing instead of a running game, making everyone work a little harder.

Ed Jackson's first-place Colts had an extremely good passing game. Mr. Copenhaver, Jr., his quarterback, led the team to many unbreakable plays and numerous touchdowns. The team won all eight regular season games.

Bruce Clements was the quarterback for Bob Ward's team, the Vikings. Bob Ward and Steve Holland scored frequently, but not enough to win four of their games.

David Strickland's team, the Falcons, tied third place with Steve Feeback's '49ers. Elder Jewett's passes were on half the time, not good enough to win five games. Dean Spano, Steve's quarterback, led a good running team, but couldn't get them too many passes.

Roger Davis headed a powerful team, which should have won every game. But due to little violations of rules, most of their points were called back. Roger's and Mr. Henline's quarterbacking just wasn't enough. The Redskins finished with a record of two wins and six losses.

Elder Jewett heaves a pass.

The youngest quarterback, Bruce Clements, here passes the ball to Bob Ward. Bruce proved quite capable under pressure.

Left: Tom McNeilus surveys the line. Right: The leading scorers are, clockwise from top, Ed Jackson, 63 pts., Bill Saukel, 46 pts., Randy Seeders, 44 pts., Steve Page, 42 pts. Below: Bob Ward and Bruce Clements protect Steve Holland as he makes a sweep around the side.

Randy Seeders gets his pinkies on the ball.

Practice And Struggle

A league basketball this year has been a thrill to watch and even fun to play once in a while. There haven't been that many big guys playing this year, and for that reason everyone thought it would be a dud. Well, they were wrong. Such greats as Roger Davis and Mr. Copie Jr., can't be kept down, and neither can their scoring. The intermediates, like Keith White and Randy Seeders, did quite well, also. Randy is up there with Ed Jackson, who you would expect to be ahead of everybody.

The team which has been ahead all year is that of Mr. Henline. His and Mr. Copie, Jr.'s shooting has brought close to 50 points a game, and Lester Richards, Tom McNeilus, Mr. Decker, and David Ferrell have usually done enough to make up the difference for a winning game.

Dave Ferrell seemed shocked to see Dean Spano strolling along.

Everybody loves to stare at the ball as it goes in the basket.

Randy's shot is too fast for Roger's off-balance swing.

Steve White specializes in using some sort of trick to get around a defender.

Are Well Rewarded

Ed Jackson's Bullets have been hanging right in there all the way, losing important games by only a couple of points. Superstars Ed J. and Roger D. have worked the hardest of any two, and Dennis, Litten, Bill Phillingane, Steve Smith, and Dennis Donak have each done their share in a big way.

The Knicks, David Sincavage presiding, are a very tight-knit team. Their key is teamwork, and why it hasn't worked before only Mr. Boehm knows for sure. Elder Jewett has been the center of the team, and he has done a great amount of beautiful shooting and rebounding. Walter Kowtoniuk and Keith White, the forwards, have shown their rebounding and shooting ability, too. Kim Schneider, David Sincavage, and Mr. Boehm have rotated quite a bit as guards, but the majority of the work has been handled by Dave and Kim. Dean Spano has been an enthusiastic substitute, also, and has broken many a play.

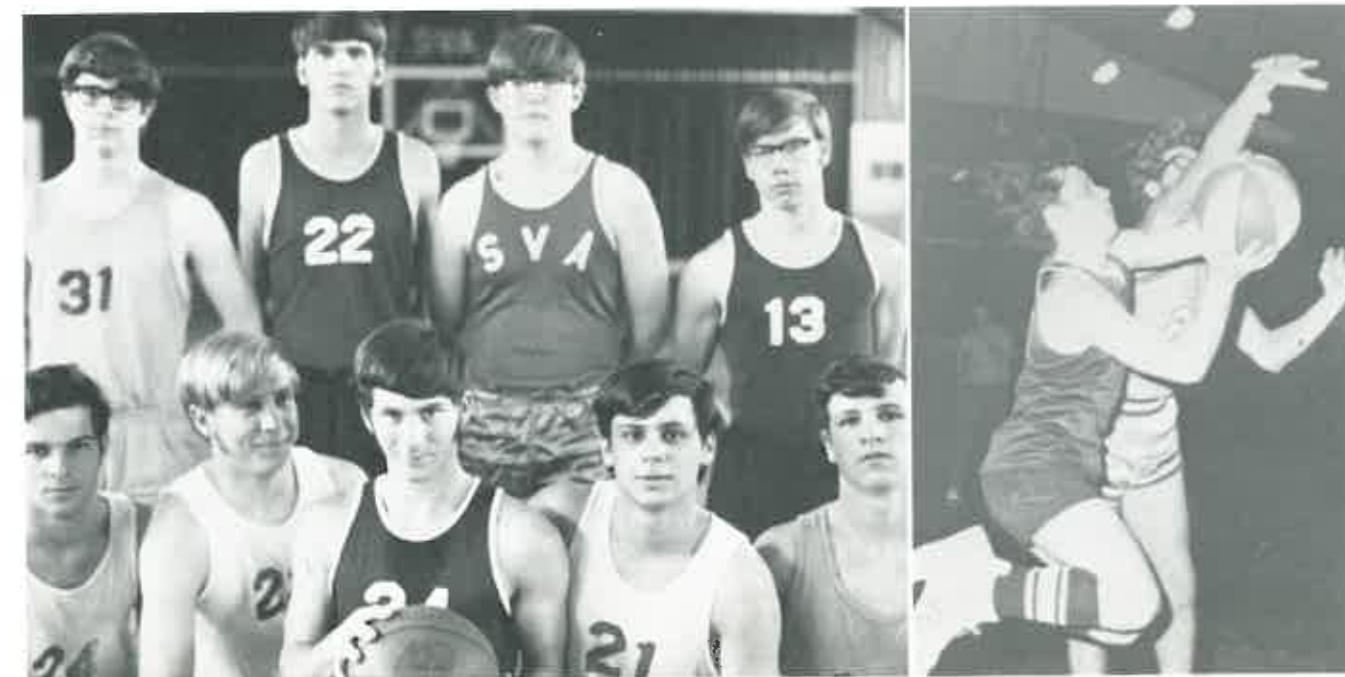

David Strickland's team, the Hawks, has been fighting it out along with the rest of them but has still managed to come out on the bottom. Randy Seeders, one of the leading scorers, has been awfully hard to stop, and so has Dave Strickland, their center. Bob Liers and Phil Silvers have traded the forward position off and on, as have Steve White, Ronnie Skidmore, and Nelson Thompson as guards.

Dave Strickland shoots over a visitor in the C.U.C. vs. All Star game.

Roger tries a high jumper.

Walter Kowtoniuk's attempt is well-guarded.

Girls Pit Their Skills Against Freshmen Boys

Jean Bragg and Debbie Bowens combine their dribbling skills to move the ball upcourt as Clarence Carr looks on.

Gary Knickerbocker wins the tip over Marilyn Miles and sends the ball to a teammate downcourt.

Karen Gray fakes out Steve Knickerbocker and Clarence Carr while Jean Bragg watches from a leisurely position on the floor.

Jean Bragg shoots over Ward Ekelof in a valiant attempt to gain points for the girls.

Love Story

That, in a word, is our theme. Don't get us wrong. We're not peddling fatuous romance or crass dehumanization, of which there is ample supply already on your local newsstand. Our concern is the one story that really matters: the story of the sturdy Galilean who loved this planet's people. That story—full of compassion and hope for man—underlies everything we do.

In tandem with our writers, we report on how it affects the whole world. We interpret what it means for the actual, turbulent life of man in the contemporary world. We circulate news of men and women—particularly young Adventists—who re-enact that story in our world through the life of faith. To be honest, we don't know of a better theme for a magazine.

INSIGHT may be ordered at $6.95 a year through your Book and Bible House. Price slightly higher in Canada. Add sales tax where necessary.
