SHENANDOAN 1980
Vol. 48

In the beginning in the darkness of an August night before the first bells,
 before quizzes and semester tests,
 before meals, banquets, and Open House,
 before Christmas vacation and April home leave,
 before all the agonies and ecstasies, and long before "Pomp and Circumstances"
 it was an August commencement,
 a new beginning.
 In the darkness God again saying,
LET THERE BE LIGHT
IN THIS PLACE AT THIS TIME,
 light in the whispered classroom prayers, light in the public words and private deeds,
 light within to be shared,
 light without to be diffused over the immensity of an energy-starved land,
 light to be shared without cost,
 light to be sold without price,
 light in the darkest night,
 and light in the stained-glass glow of His sanctuary.

In the beginning were students and teachers growing together in the light through the lectures, tests, and quizzes through the homework, films, and essays, through the A's, B's, and C's, through the work, cleats, and smiles,
through the problems and failures becoming a team challenging all others
to attempt more,
to do more,
to be more,
to be lights shining in the night,
sharp pinpoints of burning light, playing, working, growing, glowing,
building Shenandoah's only product — strength out of diversity, meaning out of chaos,
love out of hate,
relationships of respect and love
out of campus confrontation, building together a destiny out of a fragile dream.

In the beginning and ending were students,
 one on one,
 three hundred seventy personalities becoming one unit,
 Shenandoah Valley Academy, 1979-1980.
 It was the year of roommates to tolerate, to help, to love, friendships to plant, to grow, to harvest,
 hands to shake, to fight, to hold,
 and through it all
 to search, to find, and to like yourself.
 It was a year to be guided by the light,
 to choose the right,
 to choose each other,
 a year to be a family
 and as with all families finding the living together difficult but the breaking-up hard to do.
 And then in the ending saying goodbye to all but the memories —
 the laughter, the smiles, the tears, the trips, the special dates, the parties,
 the games won and lost,
 the friendships made and marred,
 the loves of one year symbolized within the pages of this book.

In the beginning and ending was activity,
 never ending, sometimes frenzied, activity.
 It was the year of much to do, to think,
 to see,
 an attempt to fill each moment with completeness.
 The hands at August handshake become faces to remember in June, and clapping hands filling Saturday nights with excitement were sometimes folded in serious reflection.
 It was a year of handmade dreams and images on the silver screen,
 of sleights of hand and far-away places,
 of down-home fiddles crying in the soft light mixture of hay and bluegrass, of home-cooked faculty parties,
 of actors, musicians, singers, and gymnasts,
 giving all for SVA, of talent diversified and unified from the high-flying skiers and underground spelunkers to the quietly meditative Bible conferences, of hands raised amid the shouts and screams of Alumni Basketball
 to the quiet sophistication of Open House, a year combining both a formal Reception and informal blue jean recreations, and in the ending another beginning — Graduation 1980.

Special thanks to Mr. Clyde Garey for the copy in this section.

WITH APPRECIATION

Dear Mr. White,

For more than twenty years you have put heat in our dorms, kept our buses running, operated the PA system in church, and done the other jobs that help keep the campus in shape. Thank you for your availability in times of need and your willingness to help. It has been your faithfulness that has taken care of so many things. Mr. White, we appreciate you.

Sincerely,

Students of 1979 - 1980

Behind this seemingly innocent smile of Judy Greenburg lurks a mischievous freshman.

Jack Roberts stretches out soaking in the "easy life" of being a senior, or is it because of cafeteria food.

Top right: Valerie Showalter, with her eyes closed, absorbs the shock of a giant marshmallow.
Bottom: Reminiscence of Algebra I plays on the faces of Diane Wiram and Diana Harter.

"Come on, you guys, can't you leave a person in peace and tranquility around this place," muses Shari Brown.

Top: And they call that an innocent face!
Bottom: What Rosanie wouldn't give for a hot shower and her electric hair curlers.

"You go this way, you go that way and hit them hard," Susie Hallman declares, while her bewildered teammates look for instant help.

It's not easy being a new faculty member at S.V.A.

Deryl would rather dream about the 50-yard line than learn about passive and active voice.

Your typical camera-shy freshman.

Cheryl and Wendy enjoy being boy watchers.

THE FAITHFUL FEW

Back: Donley Helms, Tom Brice, Jeff Greenburg, Kevin Thomas, James Nestler, Tom Stevens, Ted Cromwell, Karl Haffner, Bruce Hicks, Sam Sanchez, Rocky Corner, Bill Dubois, Chris Meadows, Mark Harris, Randy Neff, Andy Koliadko, Alan Verde, Derrick Early, Jack Roberts, Alan Koliadko, Mike Meade, Front: Dana Troxell, Glenda Umali, Lynette Klim, Jackie Martin, Rosemary Bendall, Sandy Johnson, Lynette Champion, Susan Williams, Coleen Moog, Tammy Crump, Gail Fisher, Taletha Thomas, Holly Hamilton, Leanne Cross, Keli Sheer, Becky Banks, Robin Schmidt, Lisa Morgan, Penny Fauver, Judy Mills, Debbie VanArssdale, Diane Wiram.

Lynette Klim tries to decide what Ronnie Jeffers needs most — a face lift, a can of deodorant or possibly both.

Top: Kathy Thomas puts all of her talents to use while working.
Bottom: Glenda Umali stares through the door waiting for a certain "redhead" that will brighten up her day.

"You have to learn to do it with talent and class," Lauri Bianchi states.

RELIGION

Dorm Worship

Religious activities have always been a vital part of the curriculum here at SVA. Programs such as Student Week of Prayer, Bible Conference, Prayer Breakfast and Student Communion Service all help to build a unity among us as well as a warm Christian atmosphere.

Life, Light and Beauty, a religious paper written by the students and put out by the Religious Activities Committee, is a welcome and inspiring newsletter. For many, Friday night vespers is still the highlight of the busy week.

Time for a quiet reflection.

ACTIVITIES

Girls Open House

The Enchantress (alias Hadley Hall) set sail on December 2, 1979, for France. On board, 400 people toured the cruise ship as luggage was loaded in the main hall. Eager passengers made their way throughout the ship's decks inspecting cabins and browsing through boutiques on the lower deck. The cafeteria gave an aura of a ship's restaurant by its exquisite cuisine and shoreline view. The student center provided a quick port-of-call with punch, hors d'oeuvres and a relaxing atmosphere to talk with that special someone. Finally, The Enchantress dropped anchor in Toulon, France, where the ship's feature flick, "Les Miserables," took place. The magical evening ended with The Enchantress blinking her goodnight to each departing passenger.

Christmas Party

"... the stockings were hung by the chimney with care in hopes that Saint Nicholas soon would be there ... " Christmas is a time for children, so this year the S.A. invited ten community children to be our special guests at the Christmas program. The festivities included skits, songs, visits from famous personalities, a nativity scene and a special song presented by our "little friends."

A visit from Santa, alias Mr. Gerard, revived everyone's spirits. Among his bag of goodies were presents for our small visitors.

The movie "A Miracle on 34th Street" set the stage for Christmas. Mr. Durham's song, "I'll Be Home for Christmas," filled our hearts with warmth and Christmas joy. We left the auditorium dreaming of home and family reunions.

Saturday Night Activities

Live! from New Market — it's Saturday Night! Gerald White plays host to an ever surprising audience. The program of the year included such highlights as: Mr. White's stupendous performance of "Oh Pomposo" on the tuba accompanied by the harmonious laughter of Mr. Taylor and Miss Cross during the Faculty Talent Show; Steve Varro dazzled us with his sleight of hand; faculty home parties gave us a "special feeling" of belonging; and, of course, like it or not, study hall enlightened our intellect.

S.A. Fall Picnic

SVA Fall Picnic — we've seen them come and we've seen them go. But not so this year. We saw this one come with a lot more fun and go with bigger smiles on our faces. For you see, in years past picnics at SVA have more or less resembled mini-olympics without bands, flags or the torch. But Fall Picnic 1979 involved hilariously exciting games such as wheelbarrow races, human bridges, egg tosses, pie glutton contests and other ego-teasing, embarrassment-filled sports. (Of course, a lucky few will remember their morning excursion to Bryce Ski Resort for championship grass skiing.) The traditional softball war still brought the senior guys on top of the juniors but the junior girls got the best of the senior ladies. And so ended not just another day at SVA, but Fall Picnic 1979.

Halloween Party

As the sun set Wednesday, October 31st, witches, mummies, hoods, clowns, Raggedy Anns and Andys, scuba divers, hunchbacks, nerds and scholars — even people we couldn't identify — crept stealthily from respective hideouts to hold their annual hobgoblin hubbub.

Mingling activities such as: guessing how many dots on the pumpkin, how many kernels on two ears of Indian corn, or how many bales of hay in the gym were available as was the ever-loved "Dunking Machine." Students favoring the victim — Mr. Gerald White — gained the most pleasure of the evening in watching their beloved English teacher sputter and splash in the water.

Apple cider and cinnamon twists were enjoyed as was the movie, "The Ghost and Mr. Chicken."

Barn Party

The 4th annual boys' club Barn Party was held at the beginning of November. J.J.'s father performed beautifully (as always) for an enthusiastic audience. It was impossible not to get involved with the foot-stomping and hand-clapping. With J.J. making a celebrity out of many unwilling students, the program turned into a very humorous night. After the spectacular music (with Tom Stevens pounding away on the drums), everyone relaxed in the hay to watch the original of all originals, "Brian's Song." With tear-filled eyes and runny noses, the students left with pleasant memories of another Barn Party.

Government Trip

On November 27-29 the Capitol was overrun by the Senior class as they arrived for an expedition to observe the things that make our nation operate. The Seniors attended Congress, the Dept. of Engraving and Printing, the National Archives, the Museum of Natural History, and of course, the White House. Some of the more energetic students climbed the steps leading to the top of the Washington Monument as others spent their free time investigating the metro subway. The Air and Space Museum was of special interest and most found both art museums to be quite satisfying — especially the underground cafeteria. A few students found refuge from the cold and wintry outdoors inside the tropical botanical gardens.

The class picture was taken in front of the Capitol. The buses were loaded, and as Jimmy Carter's White House faded into the background the bus grew silent as tired students slept.

Snowstorm

The Shenandoah Valley awoke October 10 to a fantasyland of winter whiteness. The snowstorm, which was the first snow in October in 100 years, accumulated 14 inches of snow and shut down all power for six hours. Of course, to the delight of most SVA students and faculty alike, school that day was late in starting.

Our campus was transformed, to say the least. The trees appeared to be clothed in diamonds as the sun bounced off the icy limbs. Whole tree tops lay on the ground and branches were strewn across the law. Crystal droplets hung suspended from overhanging rooftops.

Valentines Party

Festive dining in an old Medieval Castle surrounded by high stone walls started this year's Valentine's Party off with an air of romance. Cupid struck many of his targets as flowers, candy and some sentimental love notes were passed between dates, and who knows, maybe more than one kiss was stolen in the Garden of Innocence on such an occasion. After a delightful meal, couples made their way to the Ad.

Building for the entertainment part of the evening. Love songs, old and new, were performed, and short skits made us ache with laughter. Court jesters Jingles and Pringles told their witty tale with charm as they emceed the program. The grand finale, "The Rose and the Slipper" was a classic portrayal of the story of Cinderella. Many of us left with enchanted dreams of fairy godmothers, handsome princes, and fair damsels in distress.

David Reile has finally developed the art of sleeping with his eyes open.

Loren Whetmore adds her 2¢ worth.

"I'm supposed to do what?"

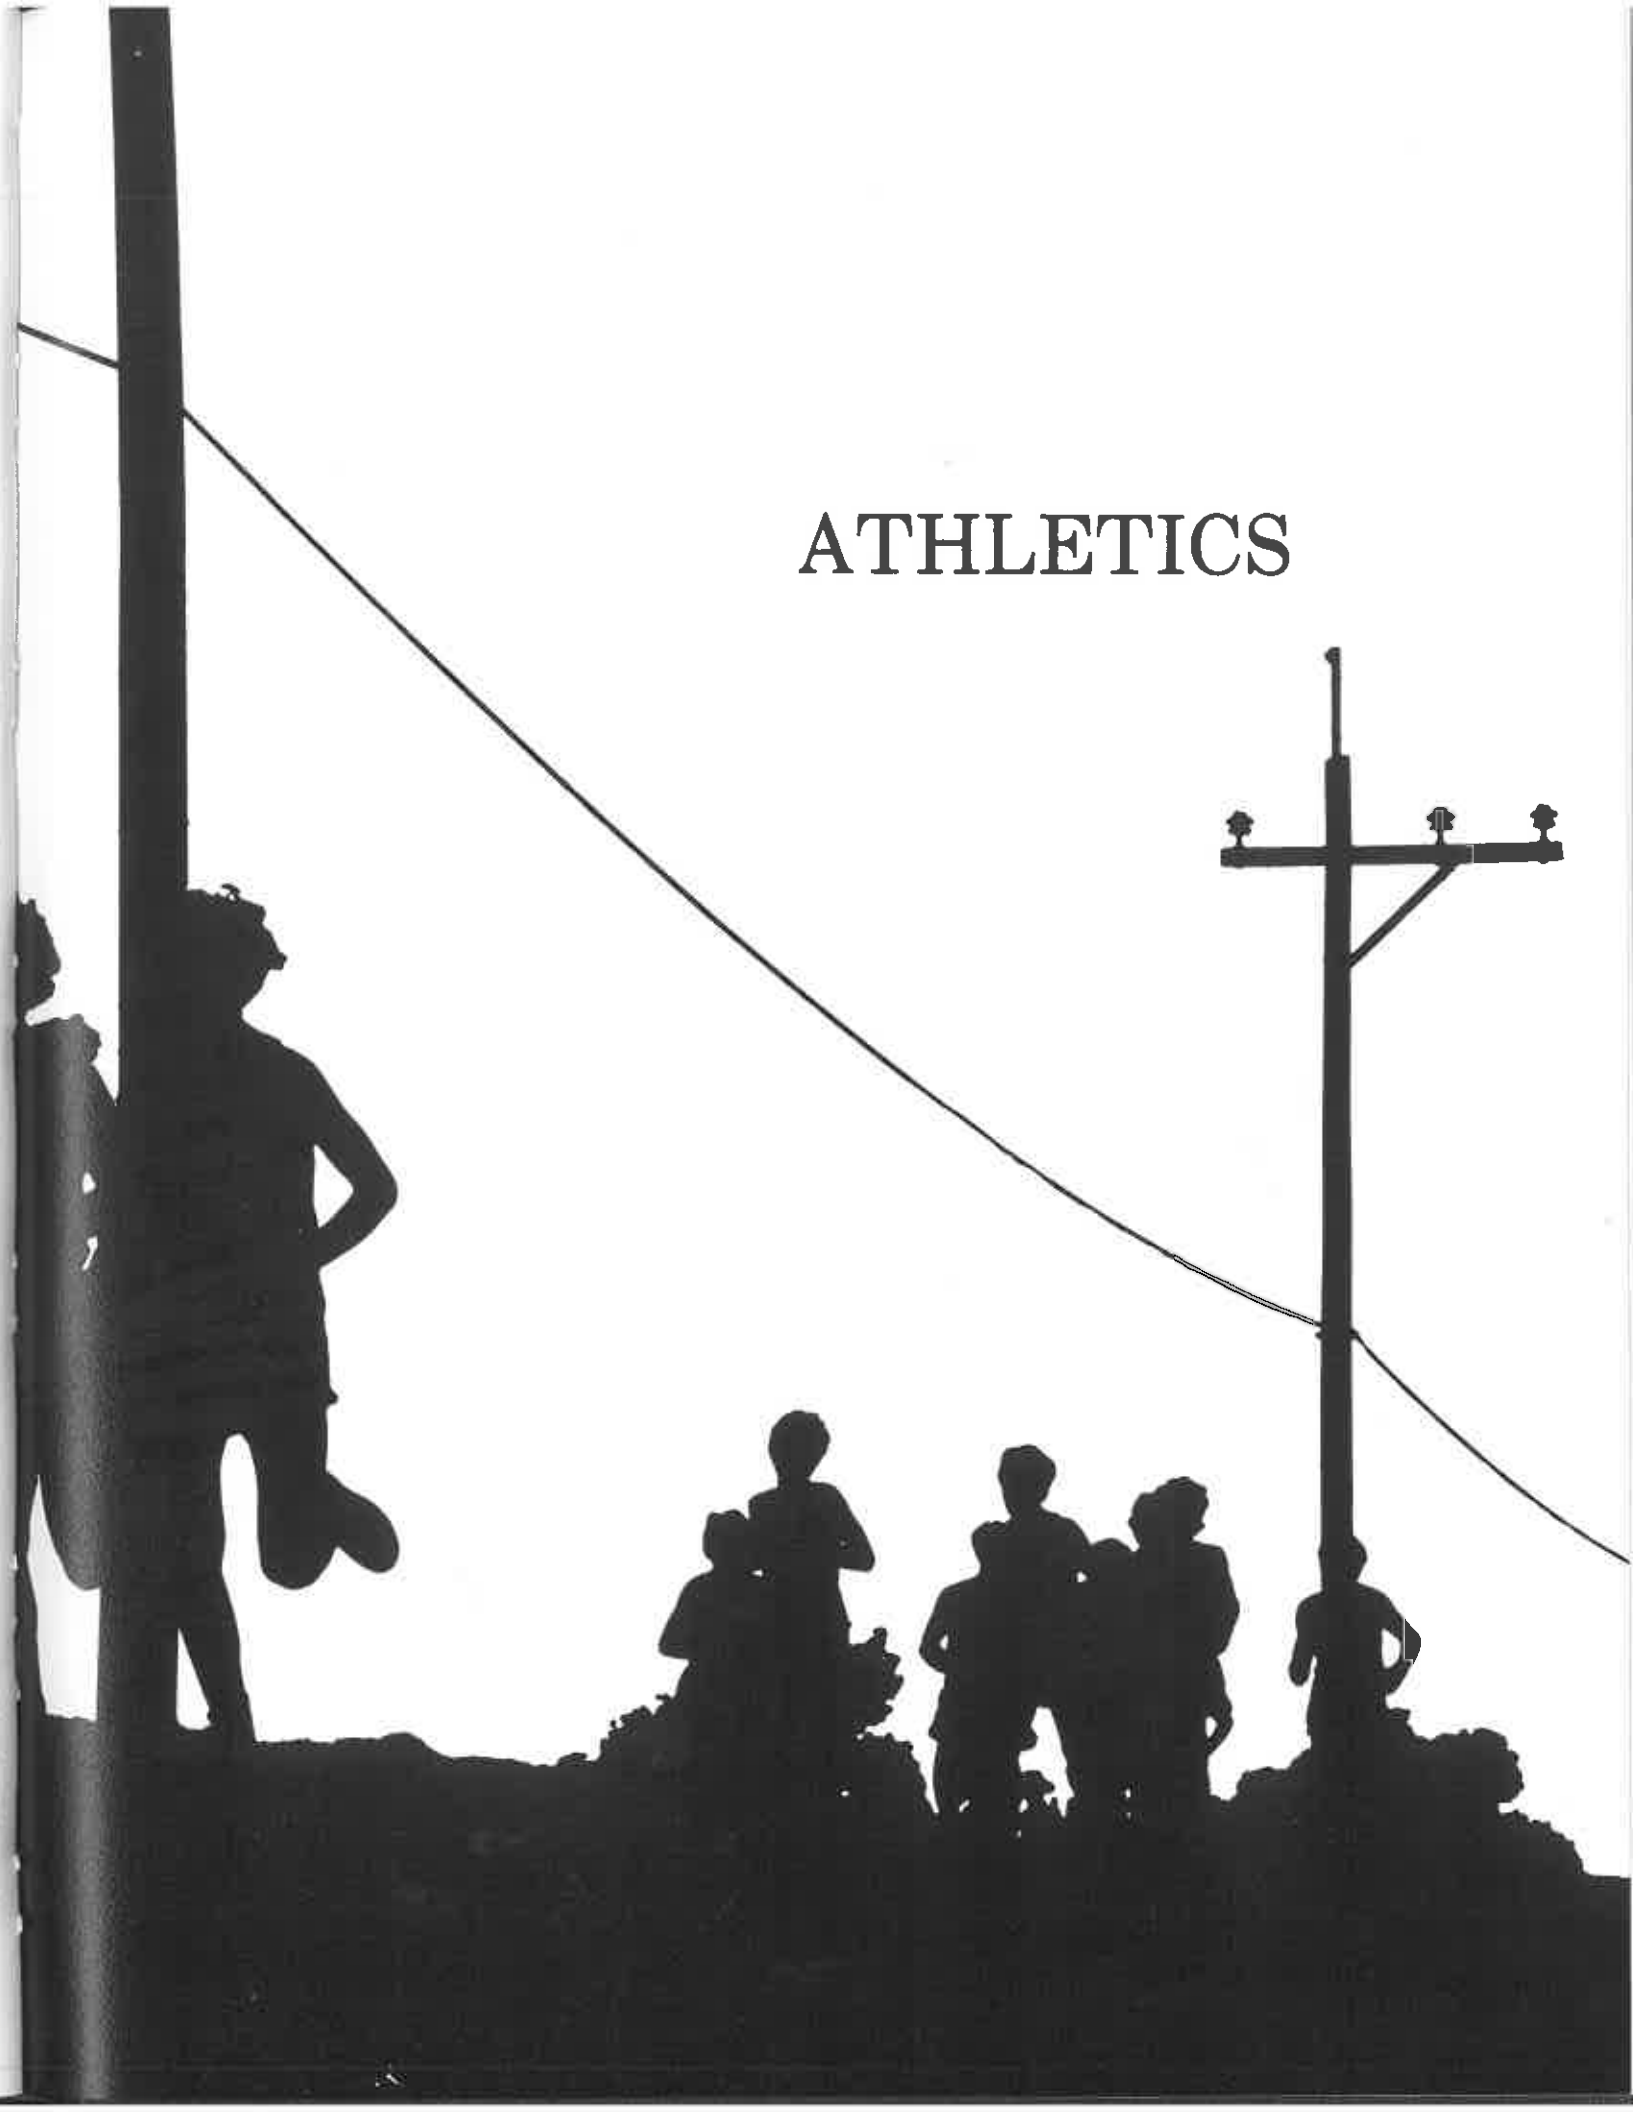

Kathy says, "Agatha, look at me when I'm talking."

That's right, sit up straight and listen.

ATHLETICS

Cardiovascular Softball

Another great decade has been completed as we leave the '70's and enter the '80's. Also, another great year of sports has been presented at S.V.A. It started out with cardiovascular softball, proceeded with football and summed up with basketball.

Cardiovascular softball proved to be very prosperous to Karl Haffner who dominated the first place title with a 12-2 record. Close behind came Steve Vogel and his "Buckstove" team to possess second place with a 11-3 record. The other teams finished as follows: third, Greg Jenkins, 7-7; fourth Doug Dunbebin, 6-7-1; three way tie for fifth, Danny Koliadko, Bruce Hicks and Andy Koliadko going 5-9; sixth came Mike Price with a 4-9-1 record.

Football had a big change this year, going from eight man flag football to six man. Nevertheless, this didn't affect Todd Otis' team as they went undefeated with a 9-0 record. In second place came a close contender, Greg Jenkins, going 7-2. Bringing up the rear came: third, Ted Cromwell; tied for fourth was Chris Meadows and James Nestler; fifth, Sam Sanchez; sixth, Tim Sapp.

At the finish of the first season of basketball the standings were as follows: tied for first was Mark Harris along with Danny Koliadko; second came Greg Jenkins, and last but not least came Steve Vogel.

 Just think the day has finally arrived. All my prayers include you in your Christian endeavor. You will always have my blessing.
 Much Love,
 Mom

To Sandra - Light of Our Lives (Johnson),
 We wish for you not a life of ease, but the satisfaction of a job well done and the joy of service to others.
 Our love always,
 Mom and Dad

Dear Sherie (Brown),
 You've brought us so much happiness. We thank God for you and your devotion to Him.
 Affectionately,
 Mom and Dad

James Dear (Nestler),
 Always let Jesus be first in your life and guide you in all of your decisions. Son, I am very proud of you and especially as you're graduating.
 Love,
 Mother

Muy Querido Ramon (Taufel):

Nuestras palabras son insuficiente para expresar la felicidad que sentimos al tener un hijo como tu, pero queremos hacerlo diciendote lo mucho que te amamos, que Dios te bendiga.

Papa, Mama, Ricky.

Dear Doug (Dunbebin):

All of us — Sharon, Gary, Ben, Nathan, Bobby, Marcia, Donna, Mom, and Dad — are glad you're one of us. Congratulations!

The Family

Dear Gail (Fisher):

Only you could have made these years so special to us. May God be always first, best and always in your heart.

With all our love,
Mom and Dad

Dear Bonnie (Merricks):

Your dream has finally come true, and we are so proud of the best daughter we could ever have. Our love always.

Mom and Dad

Dear Alan (Verde):

You have worked hard to achieve your goal, and we are proud of you. Our prayers are with you always.

Our love,
Mom and Dad

Dear Holly (Hamilton):

We knew you would make it as a graduate of SVA. We rejoice with you.

Love,
Mr. and Mrs. Gammon

Dear Penny (Fauver):

You sacrificed rest, sleep, even your health, to work and lighten our load. We're proud of your dedication and hard work. May God continue to bless you in all you say and do.

With love and admiration,
Mom and Dad

Dear Jackie (Martin):

The day you've been waiting for is finally close at hand. We thank God for our daughter whom we are so proud of and love so much.

Lovingly,

To our darling daughters — Rene and Gena (Warren) —

We love you and are so proud of you. Happy graduation.

Love forever,
Mom and Dad

Dear Seniors:

We have enjoyed seeing you grow and develop into young adults. Thank you for memories and your hard work. As you enter a new phase of your life, remember the good times at SVA. May God guide your lives.
Mr. and Mrs. Johnston (sponsors)

Dear Seniors:

It seems like only yesterday that I had you in health class. Time has passed by quickly, and you are now young men and women. The past four years we've had trips down waterfalls and through nature, water battles at picnics, rides at parks, banquets with special friends and many others. But most of all, don't forget the times you spent with God here and keep him always foremost in your lives.

With love,
J.J. and Family

Dear Lynette (Champion):

I'm very proud of you! Always remember you are loved and that God will give you strength to meet each day one at a time.

With love,
Mother

My dearest Tam (Crump):

You have been a wonderful daughter and friend during these 17 years. May God continue to strengthen and guide you always in your many decisions in life.

Love always,
Mom

Eric:

Your accomplishments are an inspiration to us. Congratulations. May you always walk with God in paths that lead to His kingdom.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Dear Susan (Young):

The day you've been waiting for is finally close at hand. We thank God for the daughter and sister we love so much.

Always,
Dad

Dear Joe (Cottle):

Thanks a million! One out of three ain't bad. Our best wishes are with you.

Love ya,
Mom and Phil

Dear Valerie (Showalter):

We are proud of our curly-girly and love you very much. Always stay close to Jesus and you will be happy.

Mom and Dad

Dear Robin (Krum):

He who always seeks more light the more he finds, and finds more the more he seeks, is one of the few happy mortals who take and give in every point of time. The tide and ebb of giving and receiving is the sum of human happiness, which he alone enjoys who always wishes to acquire new knowledge, and always finds it.

— Lavater
With love and congratulations,
Mother and Dad

Potomac People

The staff and entire membership of the Potomac Conference join in extending congratulations to the Senior Class - you're an important part of the POTOMAC PEOPLE team.

Actually, we're happy to take this opportunity to let each student, the faculty, and parents know what an important part you each play in God's work.

Scholastic achievement, spiritual growth, and social development have been combined to give you the finest Christian education possible. The next step is yours. Your church needs young people who will practice what they have been taught and that's our challenge for all POTOMAC PEOPLE.

School is expensive. We know that. And we know that most students need a job to make ends meet. Columbia Union College's work-study program has successfully placed many students in situations where they can grow professionally while they're earning. Banks, research institutes, medical facilities, professional organizations, government offices. The CUC student is given an opportunity to work in his chosen field side by side with top professionals. The opportunities and options can be yours, too.

Dear Class Of 1981

When the final chords of the organ have faded on June 1, no longer will there be any class above you. You will be the top of the heap. Although at first you won't feel any different, as the weeks turn into months and you begin doing activities that only seniors do, the pride and excitement will build 'til the climax on graduation day. Being on top can be a dangerous position, however. It's so easy to take credit for accomplishments that only God makes possible. Take time to dedicate yourselves to God. Look up and reach out for the ultimate source of wisdom, strength, and guidance. The best of luck to you, Class of 1981. Pray for us as we leave S.V.A. as we will be praying for you and S.V.A.

With love and admiration,
Doug Dunbein Senior Class President, 1980.

A TIME TO REMEMBER

Sometimes . . . not often enough we reflect upon the good things and our thoughts always center around those we love . . . and we think about the people who mean so much to us . . . and for this special year that has made — so very happy!

Thank-you girls,
Deans Gibbs, Marihugh, and Graham

Shenandoah River Run

The first annual Shenandoah River Run, organized by Mr. Dick Stevenson, was held on our campus this year. A number of students participated along with inner and out-of-state runners in either the 5km or the 10km race. Other students participated by helping out with the race procedures.

Mother-Daughter Banquet

This year the girls club decided to pay tribute to their mothers by preparing a Mother-Daughter banquet. The girls presented their mothers with gifts and ate of a menu consisting of Broccoli Mushroom quiche, a salad bar and deserts which their mothers brought from home. After the meal the mothers posed with their daughters for pictures and then settled down to enjoy an afternoon of entertainment.

S.A. Spring Picnic

Above: Participants in the 3-legged race wait for the signal to go. Upper center: Rosemary Bendal and Cheryl Marliugh pass the time of day while cooling their feet in the Shenandoah River. Right: For those who wanted less active entertainment, there was also a boggle game. Lower center: Craig Calhoun was one of the few who participated in the baby bottle race. Lower far right: Christi Cross and David Lewis look on as Doug Dunbebin munches and gulps his way through the pie eating contest.

Junior-Senior Banquet

The mood was set as the sun settled from a cloudless sky and Juniors and Seniors made their way to the duck pond for the banquet meal. At dinner's end, the Barber Shop Quartet entertained the Juniors and Seniors until twilight. Then they moved to the chapel to finish up the evening with the film "Camelot".

Alumni Basketball

The gym was crowded, Saturday night, March 8 for the faculty team's defeat of the Alumni. Then the clock and attempts to fix it failed, along with the All Stars' attempt to defeat the recent graduates.

Seniors Run The School

As is the custom once a year at Shenandoah, the Seniors stepped into the faculty members positions. There were extra-credit quizzes, disgusted grimaces, and an Ad Council meeting. Some good laughs were shared as the Seniors ran the school for a day.

Friday Nite Graduation

Above: Elder Jim Pleasants, of Kentucky Tennessee Conference, presented the evening message.

Left: Susie Hallman and Lisa Peyton sang a composition by Bach which when translated reads "We hasten with eager, yet faltering steps to follow".

Sabbath Morning Graduation

Lower right: Seniors begin the long march down the aisle.

Lower left: Jeff Greenberg and Lisa Peyton, two of the many seniors, who appeared as though they couldn't believe graduation was finally here.

Class Night: A Calvacade Of Freedom

The entertainment, or the Cavalcade as it was called, consisted of everything from slaves and square dances to groups of Rebels and Yankees. All who participated in the Cavalcade, which, by the way was the whole senior class, performed songs about how America obtained her freedom and where she stands in freedom today.

Commencement . . .

It's only the beginning.

Upper right: Dr. Richard Neil spoke to the Senior class on commencement day centering his address on two main questions: "What do you have?" and "What do you need?"

Above: Tom Brice and Glenda Umali taking the final march at the end of which they will receive their diplomas.
