Who doesn't have a favorite color?

Since I was 3 years old, I have been asked what is my favorite color. I know that everyone likes a color, and I hope that you find it somewhere in this book.

This 2007 yearbook, in case you haven't figured it out by now, is all in color. Every section and every page has something unique about it, and it's a certain color.

Every season is marked by a color, and they all have meanings. Summer is hot, and Autumn is always changing colors. Winter is cool, and Spring is just plain green.

I hope that as you go through this book you recall memories and treasured times with your fellow students here at Shenandoah. I do hope that the color helps make those memories a little more special, and if not, at least your picture will be in color instead of black and white.

I know that this color thing might be little hard to get used to, but bear with me, and I think you might like it!

Dear Mrs. Dodge,

Where to begin?

Well this yearbook is dedicated to you for a couple of reasons:

We love you and we believe that you are a great teacher and friend. You are strong, but loving all at the same time, and that is what SVA needs, and adores.

You are a mentor. There are so many kids who come to you for the simplest of questions, along with life's tough problems.

You're also a mother to every student here. It's very comforting to know that there is someone that you can go cry, talk or laugh with.

And finally, because no yearbook here at Shenandoah has been dedicated to you. You have just been a little too involved in the process of making them that you just couldn't be the dedicated.

So here you go, Mrs. Dodge! Here's your dedication and we love you!!

With Love,
Shenandoah Valley Academy

"She's cool,
and I like the food
she brings us!"

Austin Kim

the dedication

"I like Mrs. Dodge because she really cares about us, she's like the mom of SVA. She cares about us like a mother would. She cooks really well too. She's sweet, sincere, and genuine."

Joan Whieldon

principal's message

Have you ever written a letter to someone you love, knowing they will not read the letter for 7 months? What can you say today that will be meaningful and not stale 7 months from now? That is what I am doing on October 31, 2006 - writing a letter to my new friends at SVA, knowing they will not see it for several months.

When you read this letter your long Christmas break will be only a dim memory. The mission trip experience will probably still linger in your mind and Spring Break will be recent enough in your memory bank to remember that it was way too short. Now you are looking forward to graduation in just a few weeks. The seniors will graduate, and summer will roll in. So, what do I say to you in October that will be meaningful to you in May?

This reminds me of a similar problem God faced when He inspired His servants to write letters to us that would not be read for millenniums. What could be written that would be meaningful and relevant to His people when they read the letters in 2007? Fortunately, this was God's problem and He knew how to solve the problem - He gave us what we call the Holy Bible.

The solution to my problem is to beg you to read God's solution. He has written solutions for what you needed yesterday, for your needs today, and what you will need tomorrow. The same letter fills your needs and mine - any day and every day - and they were written by the same One. That's way cool. The Holy Bible is what you need to meet your problems today and give you hope for tomorrow. It will help you with your day, every day, even though it was written thousands of years before you were born. Thank God - He had and has the best answers.

He always does.

summer

Widely regarded as the best season of the year, summer is that time when everyone can chill and take a break from the crazy lifestyle we all live here at SVA. It's a time for family, beach (or lake), sun, NO CLASSES, and unfortunately, separation from the friends that we love so much. We all keep in touch and sometimes we make the occasional visit to campus for the fond memories of the previous year. As short as it is, we fill it with stuff to do and fun times to be had and by the time it's almost over, I have to say that I have very often looked forward to seeing all my friends and teachers and maybe a few of the new classrooms, but we always remember the fun summer that we just experienced.

signing up ...

Registration is a time of happiness and joy as old friends reunite and new friendships are formed. As usual, the weekend was packed with new students not quite sure what they were supposed to be doing and adjusting to the dorm. Then Sunday rolls around and all the return-ees are back! Unpacking into the dorms was, as usual, hectic, but things settled down and the year had begun!

meet and "grease"??

This year's Handshake went by very "smoothly". Soon after the underclassmen and Juniors left, the Seniors got to work. They put on gloves, hats just like every other class, but we had one secret ingredient. Out of view of the other classes was a big, nasty, smelly, and purplish-red glob of axel grease just waiting to be used. To make a short story shorter, axel grease has been banned from Handshake Indefinitely. Like I said, Handshake went by very "smoothly" this year.

Ahh, the class rivalry, the humungous ball that seems to be continually popping, and of course, pudding. That's what Almost Anything Goes is about - the weird events where even the staff get involved. The Freshmen were sporting their white-tee's while the Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores represented in color. The night started off with worship by the S.A. Pastor, Lisa Pichette, and was then followed by 4-way volleyball. Then the events just kept coming: Pass-the-mint-on-a-toothpick, the infamous shoe game, ping-pong blowing game, dizzy-izzy, the pudding drop, and of course, the waterslide. Everyone enjoyed themselves, even if they did get either a little sticky from the pudding or a little grassy from the slide that just happened to abruptly end on a hill.

This year I really admire and feel priveleged to be captain of the girls varsity volleyball team. We all have great abilities and potential physically on the court as well as spiritually, academically, and socially. We are not only coming together with winning most of our games, but also as a team with building relationships as friends. Coming together after each play reminds us that we are unified whether it's giving each other encouragment or cheering each other on in games. We want to demonstrate our Christianity with each other and different teams by praying together after every game. A verse and song from the Bible that comes to mind is "Let us come together and praise the name of Jesus". We are definitely building friendships adn uplifting God's name this season.

Jenifer Jesson, Captain

Another successful year of boys' soccer has gone by. We had a few losses, but we did much better against the really hard teams this year. Congratulations to all the Seniors on the team, you did awesome and we will miss you next year. To the captains, thanks for an awesome year, you guys were great. Good job, soccer team, for almost making the playoffs. We nearly beat Blue Ridge.

Cross Country. I have to say it's not the most entertaining sport ever... You see the team at the beginning of the race, then you wait. You see them once, half-way through and then you wait again, until finally the first person comes toward the finish line. When the crowd of on-lookers see the first person running towards the finish line, things start to get exciting. Everyone cheers on and encourages the runners.

As the manager, fortunatley, I did not have to run at all. But I got to cheer on our team at every race.

Although I hate running, I love cross country. People on this team have changed right before my eyes - at first some people joined cross country to lose weight. They did, and they changed in other ways in order to become better runners.

We had a lot of fun this year on cross country, and did well. I loved being the manager. Maybe, you all will inspire me to run....

It's getting colder (in theory), second quarter is in full swing, and everyone is ready for the arrival of the holiday season. All the music organizations start practicing for Candlelight concert. Everyone really feels a sense of class pride and can show it off at the picnic. S4 is busy with planning their events including Barn Party, which is probably the most popular of the S4 events. Of course, the most important part of any second quarter is the breaks. The wonderful October homeleave with trips to all sorts of places in the United States and of course, Thanksgiving break. It's just a great time of year.

Shenandoah Valley Academy's first annual fall festival was a success! The day began on a beautiful, crisp, some might say, cold, Sunday morning. The cafeteria served a yummy breakfast for everyone, including pancakes, tatter-tots, scrambled eggs and fruit. The festival featured many different fun events and lots of great food. The events included Bubbas castle, a dunking booth, sumo wrestling, pie throwing, a baseball throw, soccer kicking, a football throw, face painting, cake walk, basketball shooting, hay rides, dune buggy rides, pony rides, and donut-on-a-string. The afternoon warmed up quite nicely and there were lots of adults and kids of all ages from the community and SVAE. For lunch the cafeteria served haystacks. Outside we had cotton candy, popcorn, and Korean food. Also joining us was SVAE's booster club and USANA. The festival was a delight for all who attended and many say that they can't wait till next year's fall festival.

It's the most wonderful time of the year. Snow, no school (rarely), finals (that's the bad part), but best of all, Christmas and the New Year. With lots of performances, this is the craziest time of year for anyone involved in music. Tours, more tours, and the famous Candlelight concert eat's up all of the music department's time. Classes are winding down for the end of first semester and all the teachers start reviewing for the dreaded finals. But most importantly, with the coming of the new year, the seniors are entering their last semester at Shenandoah Valley Academy and, finally, graduation! WOOHOO!!

I don't know where to begin. We left Wednesday morning in the blue bird for Ohio. Our group enjoyed the scenic drive through the hills while playing games, laughing, and a very small amount of sleeping. The real fun began that evening when we pulled out of Taco Bell. The blue bird died an untimely death. Thanks to a rescue from Andrews Academy we finally made it to the bell festival and set up our bells a couple of times. Practice started the next morning and went through Friday. Talk about tired arms! However all the practice paid off as we played like never before. Tempest was a triumph and we received much applause and went crazy as soon as we got "off stage" (or behind the table). Mr. Little picked us up the next morning after church and we made our way back home to watch the videos and reminisce over a job well done.

With 'hours' of preparation and several mall trips for flowers and bears with candy or any other 'essential' items, the guys made the long cold, lonely walk to the girls' dorm. This year, the guys opened up their dorm to the critique of the girls. After which, the girls were escorted to the cafeteria, in all its lovely decorations. All of the celebrity couples registered at the door and walked in on the red carpet. The cafeteria was beautiful and the food was amazing. Of course, though, any event that Taste of Thai caters is good. In addition to Taste of Thai, the girls' club put up a chocolate fountain. Finally, the best part of dinner was the entertainment. From the Korean girls' funny dance, to Mr. Slocum scraping paint off of the ceiling with his cane, all of the performers were really great. After gorging ourselves, everyone went to the after-party in the student center. The strobe lights were awesome and the karaoke was really funny (especially to watch). The banquet was really fun and we all congratulate the girls' club on an excellent job! Thanks!

S.A. Adopt-A-Child

The smiles of pure joy were seen everywhere on this day in December. SVA students were stepping out of their comfort zones and need the most help - Giving to the games in the gym, the food in the courtyard, and the opening of the presents, the children and the SVA students bonded on a level that no one thought possible. Students who weren't sure what to expect found out that they received a huge blessing just from a little boy or girl. "The look of excitement and happiness on their faces was incredible... I've never seen someone get so excited over something that I have given to them," says Amanda Allen of Georgina. Many memories were made. The holidays felt like they are supposed to feel like -- gratifying.

During a cold week in January, Pastor Tre warmed our hearts and filled us with the Holy Spirit. I think everyone on campus could honestly say that they had never felt God that close to them before.

as many students decided to live their lives for Jesus this. Between the powerful talks given every morning and every evening and the After-glows that went on for more than two hours, everyone was getting into God from the inside out. Learning about God and how to keep Him closer to our hearts is what the main point of the Week of Prayer. Once we have God on the inside, He's going to show Himself on the outside as well. The week was successful, and the Spirit has been kept alive here on SVA's campus.

student association talent show

This year's talent show was really great. The Student Association spent lots of time working on getting everything together. From Sean and his cowbell, to Janice's song about "Forgetful Joanna," everyone performed really well. Even Mr. Slocum and Mrs. Griffin got in on the action. As emcees for the night they proved that they could entertain just as much out of class as they do in class everyday. During the judging, the handbells played several songs, including a song on the piano and "Shenandoah". This program really showed off the talents of our SVA students.

Between the many hours spent sleeping (or in some cases, screaming) on the good 'ol SVA bus and the cold wind, some might consider this trip to be a trip that no one would go on. The basketball kids had just arrived from Texas and the others had been waiting at Dulles for a while. everyone was tired. Cold, tired, and uncomfortable chairs... automatically a bad combination. But, as for most of the kids (and yes, the adults too) this trip was one of the best trips they had been on. With a group like none other and the crazy itinerary, this trip was packed. The snow, the skiing, the cold and windy cities, the ice skating, and the museum with the crazy cartoon section, everyone had a blast. This trip will be remembered by many as one of the most fun times they have ever had with an SVA group.

Finally, Spring is here! The weather is actually cooperating with the season this time. It's warm and the sun is shining. Girls soccer and guy's baseball are practicing. Intramurals has moved back outside. Everyone on campus is anticipating the upcoming summer (most everyone). This spring was extra special because of the opening of the new student center. Thanks to the hard work of Mrs. Feltman and Mrs. Dickertoff, everyone can now enjoy the nice new features of that great building. As always, SVA is bracing to say goodbye to another senior class.

Europe this year was really great. Even though we had to walk like ten or fifteen miles a day, it was definitely worth the leg work to see everything that we saw. The weather was amazing and everything that we saw was really beautiful. Obviously from the background of this page, the Alps were amazing. In my opinion, that was the best day of the trip. We got to hike up a mountain in Austria, right next to Salzburg. The view was awesome and it was really warm, even with the snow. The Sound of Music tour was great. We got to see where the filming happened and where the actual story took place. Another one of the highlights from the trip was the Czech Philharmonic Orchestra concert. A guest conductor from Venezuela was there and brought the house down with amazing performances. It was really great. The trip was really a lot of fun and probably the best change from past Europe trips was that we stayed in actual hotels with towels and real breakfasts. A big thank you to Mr. Rumsey and all the adults who helped plan the trip and a thanks to all the students who made it so much fun and memorable.

Mexico Mission Trip 2007

The Mexico Mission Trip all started with a tired bunch on a 4 A.M. bus ride to the airport. We arrived later that afternoon, and two days later we continued on our way to Papantla. Soon we were settled in and ready to work. I started out working in dental with Taylor Turner. After seeing children and grandparents having teeth pulled, I have become more appreciative of what I have. Later on that week, Brittany Sweeney and I worked building pews for the church being built. When we ran out of wood we used the pieces we had left to build children's benches. After all this I would have to say my favorite part was the V.B.S. meetings we conducted. The children we got to meet and play with and the relationships that we gained on this trip will impact my life for years to come.

girls varsity soccer shooting & scoring

With the season predicted to be "a growing year" the girls soccer team had to work hard against the odds. With a brutally cold try-out and only a few practices before their first game, this team had it cut out for them. They took the field for their first game, and came out with a win. "we don't give up, and that's what's good about us..." says senior Caitlyn Carney. And it's true, the team doesn't give up and they give it their all. These are the positives about the team -- their uplifting spirits and the willingness to get out there and give their best. Even though this may be a growing year, for this year's soccer team, they've grown to the fullest potential they possibly can.

caught. SWINGING...

That's not what the varsity baseball team was doing this year. With victories under their belts and the season going great, they were catching teams off guard. SVA's baseball reputation hasn't been the best in the past, but because of great team spirit, the willingness to try, and a lot of effort put forth, this year's baseball team succeeded in all that they did.

Student Center

Dear Mrs. Feltman and Mrs. Dickerhoff,

Words cannot express how grateful we are to you two (and everyone else who chipped in to help make the Student Center as amazing as it could possibly be). Despite falling off ladders and black eyes, you have made a tremendous impact on this campus that will be remembered for years to come. The Student Center is amazing and every student is going to enjoy every aspect of it (especially the nice T.V.s).

Thank you so much for all your hard work and dedication to Shenandoah!

With love,

It has been a privilege for me this year to have served as a member of the Student Association. This year has been filled with many unique challenges and changes, and I know that the success of this year can only be attributed to the unity and perseverance of the student body.

I hope that the SA was able to provide more than amazing social events. It was a goal of ours this year to really redefine the roles of student leadership, and expand the spiritual guidance that I believe is required of each and every one of us.

This year has been trying for most, if not all of us. It has been hard, especially because of "Senioritis", to get up every day and go to school, but we all do it [most of us!]. My motivation this year has been each and every one of you. I love this school, and I love the people here; and that has kept me going. I know for a fact that SVA will continue to thrive because of the amazing support system of students and faculty alike, and I hope to return here [as an ALUMNI!!!!] and see all of you here enjoying it as much as I have. May God bless you in all of your endeavors; I look forward to seeing you all soon!

CLASSES of

I remember coming here my first day freshman year and thinking, "wow, I hope I don't have to spend the next four years here." Now, as a senior, sometimes I look back and ask myself what I'm still doing here.

To say our class has gone through a lot would be an understatement. While most classes have their drama, I think our class has gone through that and more. We've watched our school drastically change as we've watched each other grow and change as well. Most of the things that mattered to us freshmen year don't matter so much anymore. Things like worrying about what you're wearing for school, falling down a flight of stairs, and getting used to the smell of chicken trucks have gradually been replaced with full uniforms, maintaining friendships, and worries about what we're actually going to do with ourselves when we leave this place.

Graduation is finally here, and as we all go our separate ways we'll probably never be together as a class again. But the times we've spent here at SVA will always be a part of us. Whether we like it or not. So when I think about all the memories we've had together these four years, something inside of me says "maybe I'll actually miss this place."

Dwight, (Right-hand Man, Allagash Partner, You handsome young man!)

It's been an awesome 18 years! You've been active hunting, fishing, canoeing, and 4-wheeling to wood-working, computer building, guitar playing, singing and writing. God blessed you with many talents and gifts. We are proud of you!

Please use your intellect, your gift of music, your infectious smile, and ability to converse with anyone to represent your Father in heaven. Seek Him daily, "ask Jesus into your heart" and "Pray like breathing!"

We love you, son!
Mom and Dad

Proverbs 3:5,6

Dear Rosemary,
Your father and I have watched you blossom from a shy, skinny child into an amiable and beautiful young lady. You have many talents that will be a help to you and a blessing to others if you stay close to God with daily Bible reading and prayer, and let Him use you. God will then direct your paths, help you make decisions, and give you perspective on what is important. You are warm-hearted, smart, intense, energetic, creative, and have a good sense of fairness. There is no limit to the amount of good you can do and have fun at the same time when you partner with Jesus.
Remember Fiji!

Love, Mom and Dad

To my precious girls!
What a surprise package
God gave us
in you. You have been my special friends

and greatest joy.
I'm so proud of you now, how you always "dare" to be different and follow your own
plans and dreams.
Congratulations
and never ever

let go of God.
He still has such plans and purposes for you, and I can't wait to watch
it happen! Love
you always!
Mommy

Congratulations to our daughter and sister:
Rebecca
Elizabeth
Vanegas

"Trust in the Lord with all your heart,
and lean not on your own understanding. Remember the Lord in all you do and He will give you success." Proverbs

God granted our wish
For a baby girl
We gave you the name
Amanda Jane Worrell

You've brought so much joy
To our hearts each day
that we give God thanks
every time we pray

You grew up so fast
Then started to school
You stood for the right
E'en though you weren't "cool"

You've made us so proud
Of all that you've done
You've overcome much
And you're so much fun

Successes and flops
You'll always have these
But just remember
To get on your knees

Thank God for His grace
His blessings anew
And never forget
we'll always love you

With all our love,
Mom & Robby

3:5, 6

We Love You!
Papi, Mami, y Joshy

Son (Valte),
We often mention "it seems like just yesterday when you..." It's true that you have accomplished much in your "yesterdays", and we know you can proceed even further to "tomorrow" that only you can shape with Divine guidance. We pray for you daily and love you even more.

Dad, Mom (& Christine)
Proverbs 3:6

family! Your laughter, your music, your humor, your steady nature, your loving spirit. . . We have been blessed to have you in our home for the last 18 years. You have made us so proud. We are confident that God will continue to bless your efforts as you move on to new challenges. We will always be here cheering you on.
Congratulations!
Mom, Dad, and Tucker

OF YOUR GREATEST TALENTS
IS THE ABILITY TO MAKE PEOPLE
LAUGH AND ENJOY THEMSELVES, SO KEEP SMILING AND BEING JUST WHO GOD CREATED YOU TO BE IN HIM.

WAY TO GO LITTLE BUDDY!!

Eva, There are so many things
we could say but very limited space. We are so very proud of you. Congratulations.
Love, Grandma and Mommy

Dear Little
Wing,
We are so proud of you and how you've made the most of your high school experience
at SVA.

You've been a shining star spiritually, socially, musically and athletically.

April, your name means opening. Now is the time for you to open your wings and fly.
May you always use your many God-given gifts to glorify Him.

Love, Mom, Dad & Michael

Dear Jeralyn Dawn,
Here are some of our family's favorite "Jera-isms" from over the past 18 years:

- "You mean that big stick over there?" as you referred to the CN Tower in Toronto, Canada. (largest free-standing structure in the world!)
- "Where's Diudee?" Lifelong companion.
- "I have the KGB Bible." You mean the KJV?
- "The Holtzman Oil Crap [Corp.] truck is here..."
- "I hate Thai food!" after one bite, you loved it!
- "The dynamite caused the avalanche?" Snowball Express moment!

We are so proud of you from growing from the little
"munchkin-bug" you once were, to the beautiful, smiling woman you are today. From soccer to cross country to trombone to your school work, you have made us proud in everything you've done.
We love you and can't wait to see what
"Jera-isms" are still to come!

Love,

Heather,

There can be no measurement of time so short than that of a parent reminisceing about their grown child.

How can you be graduating from high school? Only yesterday we brought you home from the hospital, and in the blink of an eye you've become the beautiful woman we see each morning as you go off to school.

We've enjoyed the daily process of growing up with you. From the early stages, when we could already see the self-motivated and self-directed leader you would become, to the caring individual that dovetails so well with your chosen career, we anticipate the greatest from you.

And we honor you for that most important part of your character... balance in the life you lead. We've traveled the world with you, watched your concerts, games, service activities, presentations and speeches, and all the while marveled that you could not only handle it all, but excel in each.

Tomorrow changes everything, and yet this remains forever unchanged... we love you, admire and respect who you've become, and know that wherever God leads you, you will make a difference in this world. No family could ever ask for more!

Stay forever close to God and call home often.

Love,

Jonathan, Mom and Dad [XOXO]

you your goals and you will succeed.

You're always in our prayers.

Mom and Dad

We would like to wish all of the 2007 graduating class success and God's richest blessing. Obviously, we are especially proud of our one and only daughter who has brought us immense joy (and a little grief) for the past 18+ years. Keep focused on a life of service and commitment to God and there is no limit to what you can achieve.

Here are some of our favorites pictures along with quotes (loosely translated) from Noel:

1. Don't choke me, Daddy. I promise I'll practice the piano tomorrow!
2. I could spend more time practicing if I didn't have to turn the pages.
3. Daddy, why do you keep calling me "Punky Peek."
4. Mom, can you wait a couple more years before starting these college prep tapes?
5. Halmony (grandmother) do I have to stay here all day to keep the squirrels away?
6. If I wear this for kindergarten, can I skip my academy graduation?

Eighteen years ago
 I carried a little pink bundle
 into a store.
 Someone approached me and said,
 "Treasure each moment, she'll grow so fast."
 Now I see
 what they said is true.
 No longer do I
 rock you as I read your favorite books Kiss your "boo-boos" or tell you to stand up to the neighborhood bully.
 Instead we talk and laugh
 watch Friends on TV
 shop for hours and work together
 I enjoy your enthusiasm
 every time I cook something you love
 And I love
 your spirit of adventure
 especially when you travel.
 As the year comes to a close, I wonder
 "What's next for Julie?"
 And then I realize that the answer is simple
 "Anything she wants ~ with God at her side."
 With all the love in the world,
 Mom and Dad

Congratulations Joan!
 You are doing good. You will always be precious to me, our family and to God. - Dad
 My precious last, one of my favorite memories
 about our time together
 is the way you nuzzle

up to me to chat at night. As you grow older I hope you keep your loving personal-
 ity. - Mom
 "Way to tough it out!" - Tim
 Do not fear,
 little one, the life outside these gates. The trees may seem tall and your path unmarked. But you have yet to tap into the bravery inside you.

 - Esther

Dear Allison,

What more could
 a parent ask for?
 We are VERY proud of you.

Love,
 Mom & Dad

Dear Matt,

From the day we knew you were on the way, we both knew that you were going to be a boy. We were proud when you were born and we have been proud of you ever since. You will never fully know how dear you are to us until the day you hold a son of your own in your arms. God has a plan for your life. Trust Him and hold to your faith in Him.
 He wants to lead and guide you. We hope we have given you the foundation you will need to become a man of God. Forgive us where we have failed. We are anxious to watch

 you find your place in life. We will always be there for you when you need us. It's been a journey watching you grow up. It sure did happen quickly.

We love you!
 Mom and Dad

My dearest David,

When you were not yet born I prayed for an extra measure of God's goodness times you've helped me decorate, I thank you! You've graduated from SVAE and now SVA. I thank the Lord for all the help over the years to shape you into the fine young man you are today.

Congratulations!

Shawn,

We didn't think this day would come so soon. You have turned into a special young man. We have enjoyed raising you so much and we would love to never let you go, but we know that God will watch over you and protect you when we can't.

You have a very kind and thoughtful heart, Shawn, and we are so thankful God gave you to us. As you prepare for college, remember to allow Him to help you make decisions. He will be there for you always.

We love you so very much.

Our Dearest

Kara,

Congratulations on completing this chapter of your life. We are extremely proud to call you daughter and sister. We are even more proud to see the person, leader, and woman of integrity and excellence you've become.

With all our love,
Daddy, Momma & Kenny

Dearest Jordan,
Where did the time go?
Just yesterday you were blowing out candles, riding your "horse", discussing "wizard teeth" with Dorian, and riding your bike in the park. Now you are 6'3", finishing Academy and going to college.

Always remember Jordan, how God has answered prayers in the past, and know He always will in the future.

I am so proud of You!
All My Love,
Mam

Brittania,

God's word says His ways are higher than our ways & His thoughts are higher than our thoughts. When He brought you into our lives, I could not have imagined a child and now a young woman as bright, beautiful and gifted as you are.

No one in this world can touch lives in the way which you are uniquely created to do. You bring passion and laughter, creativity and warmth to family and friends.

As you journey through this life may you embrace the Master and His Awesome plan for your life. May you continually find the Wonder & Purpose for which He created you.

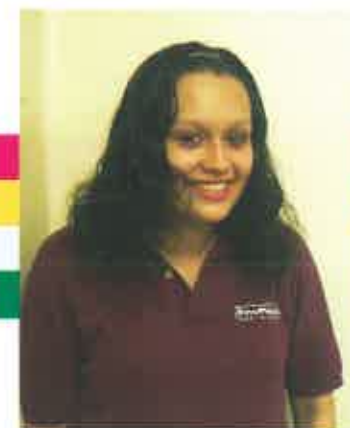

God only made one like you; you are Unique! May the joy of your life be found in discovering the life He has destined for you. Life is, after all, like a treasure hunt.

Every time I consider God's gift of you, I know He truly loves us. Thank you for the joy of life you have given each of us.

the closing

Well the year is over. And it's such a sweet day. I could not be happier that this book is in your hands and yours to keep forever. I hope that you treasure each memory and time that you see in this book and that you've had here at SVA. I know that there are probably a few mistakes, but those happen. Ignore them. Look at the pictures, the color, the memories of everything that you love about this school.

Yes, this year has been one of the most interesting years SVA has probably ever seen. With many changes and things to adjust to, we have had our share of tough times. Congratulations on making it through. This school wouldn't be the place that it is without each and every one of you here this year.

I hope you enjoy looking through this book for years to come and when you do look back at it you think about all the good things that have gone on, and are continuing to happen, here at Shenandoah.

God bless you wherever you may go.
